Federal Securities Tax Proposed.

Stock Prices Rise

Stock prices rose $1 to $8 a share yesterday on the news that the administration will ask a big increase in the federal debt limit. In its inflationary implications and its promise of a further stimulation of the defense boom, the proposal had a double edged effect. United States Steel common advanced $7.87. Government bond prices also advanced on the prospect that the outstanding tax exempt issues will go to a premium when the administration carries out its plan to eliminate the exemption on future government issues. Commodities went up with stocks. Wheat rose 3⅛ to 3¼ cents on the Chicago Board of Trade. Best grade steers reached a three year high price of $14.80 a hundredweight in the Chicago live stock market.

BY JOHN FISHER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 7.—Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. today announced that he would request congress to boost the national debt limit by another 15 or 20 billion dollars and remove tax exemption from government securities, to provide for prospective deficits.

Henry Morgenthau Jr.

The outlook, he said, is for a national debt of possibly 65 billion dollars by June 30, 1942. The debt now amounts to 44 billion 170 million dollars and the present maximum limit is 49 billion. Congress raised it by 4 billion early this year.

Morgenthau, at his press conference, declined to estimate government expenditures for the next four years, but he repeated several times that "we've just begun to rearm."

May Adjourn Nov. 18.

Later Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn [D., Tex.] declared that he did not believe Morgenthau's legislative program would change plans to adjourn congress, tentatively planned for Nov. 18.

"I can't see why those things can't lie over six weeks," Rayburn said.

"They have been lying around for a long time." He asserted that it would require some time for the ways and means committee to work out a bill embodying the debt limit increase and elimination of tax exemption for government securities.

Senator Harry Flood Byrd [D., Va.], outstanding economy exponent in the senate, tonight declared flatly that Morgenthau's request for a debt increase should not be approved by congress.

Byrd Opposes Increase.

"Nearly 5 billion dollars of the present authorized debt limit today remains unused," Byrd said. "As one who has from the beginning advocated all measures for national defense, I shall, of course, vote for whatever increase in the debt limit is necessary to finance defense expenditures.

"It is not necessary, however, to increase the debt limit by 20 billions at one time. If this is done it will be an incentive for further extravagance in government. Under no conditions should it be necessary to raise the debt limit more than 5 billions at one time. The congress should keep its control of the statutory debt limitation by authorizing only such increases as are found to be necessary from time to time to meet the urgent needs of the treasury."

Byrd demanded economies in nonessential peacetime spending, stating that the government is not collecting enough now to pay for ordinary operating expenditures. He agreed with Morgenthau, however, on taxation of future issues of government securities, and said further sums should be raised by increased taxation.

Morgenthau said that he wanted elimination of tax exemption on government securities as a means of

BLAST SET OFF AS YOUTHS STEP TO FAMILY AUTO

Motive for Attack Is a Mystery.

Scranton, Pa., Nov. 7 [Special].—A dynamite bomb attached to the family car killed Lois Rebhorn, 18 years old, and her brother, William, 21, when they attempted to open the car door tonight. The bomb mechanism is believed to have been attached to the door handle.

Lois and William were the daughter and son of Dr. Earl H. Rebhorn, Scranton's director of public health.

Police believe that the bombing was the work of some enemy of the physician and that the bomber mistook the family car for the one Dr. Rebhorn drives.

Both Cars Parked at Home.

Both cars were parked in front of the home. Dr. Rebhorn drove his away after dinner to a staff meeting at the Moses Taylor hospital, maintained by the Delaware and Lackawanna railroad. Half an hour later Lois and William started to a stationer's to buy a birthday card.

They said good-by to their mother and sister, Joan, 10, and walked to the car with their fox terrier. They put the dog in the rear seat and then apparently one of them took hold of the handle of the driver's door.

There was an exposion that shook the town, shattering windows thruout the neighborhood. Mrs. Rebhorn ran out to find that her daughter had been hurled back upon the front steps and her son had been thrown into the middle of the street. The car was wrecked.

Report Powder Explosion.

Word spread thru the city that a powder plant had blown up. Dr. Rebhorn and his colleagues were about to go to the powder plant when they received a telephone call to send ambulances to Dr. Rebhorn's home. He sprang into one of the ambulances and went to find his son and daughter dead. The dog was found in the car unhurt.

Police began a search for a city hospital employé said to have blamed Dr. Rebhorn when he was discharged. They were also looking into the possibility that Dr. Rebhorn had incurred the enmity of one of the coal miners of the district by testifying for a coal company in a compensation suit.

Dr. Rebhorn said he had received no threats. He is a major in the Pennsylvania National Guard. His forces are scheduled to go to camp Jan. 3 for a year of training.

Police announced they summoned W. O. Smelling, bomb expert of Allentown, to aid in the investigation. It also was learned that federal authorities will join in the inquiry.

CAPTAIN JIMMY SAYS 'LEFT FACE' AND LOSES SAME!

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 7 [Special].—Capt. James Roosevelt, son of the President, was the center of all eyes as the 13th and 22d battalions of the marine corps entrained for active duty at San Diego today.

Capt. Jimmy was marching his company into its position in the battalion and halted it at the proper place but not in a position to face the battalion commander, Maj. W. S. Van Dyke II., motion picture director.

"Left face," barked Capt. Jimmy. Responding smartly to the command, the company faced left and stared impassively at a cement wall within a few inches of their eyes. To their captain and major were thus presented their backs.

Capt. Jimmy recovered quickly. "About face," he commanded. Just as smartly the company did that, too, and ended up exactly as they should be. Maj. Van Dyke politely looked the other way. Several veteran sergeants looked down their noses.

"At ease," ordered Capt. Jimmy, and the company, at least, was.

Rename Forest for the Woman Who Saved It

Thirty-nine years ago, in 1901, Mrs. Ella Labagh was returning to her northwest side home from a downtown shopping trip. Crossing the north branch of the river near Irving Park road, she noticed crews of men cutting down the tall, stately trees which lined the river to supply fuel for a brickyard's kilns.

Mrs. Labagh, a nature lover, hated the thought that future Chicagoans might not be able to enjoy the wooded tracts which at that time dotted the area. She decided to do something about it.

Husband Assists Her.

Her first recruit was her husband, Heber Reginald Labagh, a real estate dealer whose hobby was photography. During the next year the couple spent much of their leisure bicycling thruout Chicago and vicinity.

Labagh took his camera along and photographed the woodland sites available to north and south siders for picnics and recreation. He also took pictures of some of the northwest side's weed grown fields. These he made into lantern slides.

Members of the Irving Park Woman's club, whose civic committee Mrs. Labagh headed, held mass-meetings at which they lectured and displayed slides. Newspapers took up the campaign, forcing disinterested public officials to take notice. In 1903 the county commissioners became convinced that it would be a good idea to preserve some of the area's wooded tracts for the enjoyment of Chicagoans. And in 1915 the forest preserve district of Cook county was organized.

Snell's Woods Renamed.

Yesterday Mrs. Labagh's service to Chicago was recognized officially when Snell's woods, a 600 acre tract at Cicero and Foster avenues, was renamed Labagh woods. Charles G. Sauers, general superintendent of the district, unveiled a granite marker in her honor.

At the ceremony was a tiny, alert white haired woman, now 85 years old. Mrs. Labagh had come to Chicago from her present home in Whitehall, Mich., to attend the dedication. Pleased at the honor thus bestowed upon her, she was "even happier to see my work being completed."

In the Shawnee national forest unit, in southern Illinois, stands another tract named Labagh woods—50,000 trees standing as a symbol of Mrs. Labagh's civic service.

The Shawnee tract was named last spring by the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs, of which Mrs. Labagh is a member by virtue of her honorary membership in the Irving Park Woman's club.

And in the Chicago Historical society's collection the lantern slides made by Heber Reginald Labagh may still be seen.

BY E. R. NODERER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Nov. 7.—Germany's capital ship fleet has been substantially reënforced, it was revealed here today with publication of photographs of a new 35,000 ton battleship.

Germans regard the commissioning of a 35,000 ton battleship as of great importance at this time. They estimate that 70 per cent of the British fleet is in the Mediterranean to guard against attack on Egypt.

The pictures do not reveal whether the battleship is the Von Tirpitz or the Bismarck. These vessels were launched in Kiel and in Wilhelmshaven, respectively, a few months before the war. These warships carry eight 15 inch guns as their main armament, and twelve 6 inch guns as well as a number of antiaircraft guns.

Meat Shortages Bring New Restrictions in Paris Region

PARIS, Nov. 5 [Via Berlin] [Delayed] (AP).—Meat cattle shortages have brought new restrictions to the Paris district. Serving of beef or mutton, hitherto allowed on Thursday, Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, is forbidden for dinner except Sunday night. Rabbit and fowl, on which there have been no restrictions, may be served for dinner only on Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

What Are the MOST BARGAINISH FOOD BARGAINS?

What has happened to meat prices this week? What vegetables and fruits can save you money? Are there any specials in canned goods to look for?

Stelle Pushes Liquidation of Horner Clique

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 7 [Special].—Three leading advisers of the late Gov. Henry Horner were severed from their official connections with the state government by Gov. John Stelle, Horner's successor, today.

Stelle, who regards the members of the old Horner clique as his political enemies, accepted "resignations" from:

Adj. Gen. Lawrence V. Regan of Chicago, who was succeeded by Lieut. Col. Leo M. Boyle.

Ernest Palmer, director of insurance, in whose place Stelle named Hayden Davis, manager of the Hotel Abraham Lincoln in Springfield.

Charles K. Schwartz, chairman of the state tax commission, who was succeeded by Rama Sweet, property tax supervisor of the commission.

Ousts Fourth Cabinet Man.

The ousting of Palmer brought to four the number of Horner cabinet members whom Stelle did not want about him—even for the seven weeks which remain of his term. The others were S. L. Nudelman, finance; Dr. A. C. Baxter, public health, and A. L. Bowen, public welfare.

Making vacant two other and more minor posts, the governor announced that Anton J. Tomasek, assistant director of conservation, had resigned and been succeeded by E. R. Ratcliffe of Beardstown, and that Robert M. Harper had been succeeded by Charles O'Brien of Peoria as employers' representative on the board of review of the department of labor.

Just before departing on a goose-shooting expedition in southern Illinois, Stelle announced that he had named Miss Frances Krimmel, former society editor of a Springfield newspaper, as superintendent of the division of reports, the administration's publicity office.

Others May Feel Ax.

There still are several department directors who may feel the ax before Governor Elect Dwight H. Green takes office.

Stelle on Wednesday announced the appointment of Maj. Gen. Roy D Keehn of Chicago as chairman of the Illinois Commerce commission. Keehn is a native of Ligonier, Ind., Green's home town, and Green once worked in Keehn's law office.

Yesterday the governor elect was asked if he had been consulted on the Keehn appointment.

"I was not consulted," he replied, "and, of course, I had nothing to do with the appointment."

Third Biggest Span in World Falls Into Sea

BRIDGE PICTURES.

Tacoma, Wash., Nov. 7 [Special].—The new Tacoma Narrows bridge, third longest single suspension span in the world, collapsed today. Swaying crazily in a 35 mile an hour wind, the mammoth structure tore itself to pieces and fell with a mighty roar 190 feet into Puget sound. Its 2,800 foot center span sank from sight.

Completed last July at a cost of $6,400,000, the bridge had been nicknamed "Galloping Gertie" because of its strange weaving in the wind, which engineers had been unable to correct. They said the motion probably was caused in part by solid side girders that caught the wind and also by the Narrows' peculiar topography that creates a sort of wind tunnel.

The bridge was financed by a PWA grant of $2,900,000 and a bond issue of $3,520,000 first sold to the Reconstruction Finance corporation, then refunded and offered to the public only 10 days ago. It was insured against all risks. Gov. Clarence D. Martin said it would be rebuilt immediately.

Three persons, one a newspaper reporter, were on the bridge when it started to collapse. All escaped.

THE REPORTER'S STORY

BY LEONARD COATSWORTH.

[Copyright: 1940: By Tacoma News Tribune.]

Tacoma Wash., Nov. 7 (AP).—I saw the Narrows bridge die today, and only by the grace of God escaped dying with it.

I have been near death many times in my life, but not even in my worst experiences in France did I experience the feeling of helpless horror that gripped me when I was trapped on the bridge this morning.

Before starting over the bridge, I had driven underneath the approach to watch the motion. The undulations were more rapid than I had ever seen before. This, however, was the only difference I saw from other times when a strong breeze was blowing.

Something "Terribly Wrong."

I started across. In the car with me was my daughter's cocker spaniel, Tubby. Not until I reached the first towers did I realize something was terribly wrong.

Either just as I reached the towers, or just as I drove past them, the bridge began to sway violently from side to side. This was something new in my experience with the bridge. Heretofore the noticeable motion has been up and down and undulating.

Before I realized it the tilt from side to side became so violent I lost control of the car. I jammed on the brakes and got out, only to be thrown onto my face against the curb.

Car Slides Around.

I started back to the car to get the dog, out was thrown before I could reach it. The car itself began to slide from side to side. I decided the bridge was breaking up and my only hope was to get back to shore.

On hands and knees most of the time, I crawled 500 yards or more to the towers. Across the roadway from me I became aware of another man, alternately crawling and then running a few steps in a crouched position.

My breath was coming in gasps, my knees were raw and bleeding, my hands bruised and swollen from gripping the concrete curb. But I was spurred by the thought that if I could reach the towers I would be safe.

Toward the last I risked rising to my feet and running a few yards at a time. The man on the other side gained the towers before I did and I envied his better endurance.

I believe that right at this minute what appalls me most is that within a few hours I must tell my daughter that her dog is dead, when I might have saved him.

Fined $100 for Leaving Canada Without a Permit

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., Nov. 7 (AP).—Mac Dolcetti, Port Arthur merchant, was fined $100 today after pleading guilty to a charge of leaving Canada without permission. Dolcetti was arrested as he was returned from the United States at High Falls, Ont.

STELLE REGIME REVISES RULES ON SALES LEVY

Official Resigns Job as Protest.

BY HAL FOUST.

Gov. John Stelle's administration was accused yesterday of secretly revising sales tax regulations to enable a selected group to escape taxes aggregating between $8,000,000 and $10,000,000 a year. The accusation was made in a letter of resignation from Samuel Herman, supervisor of rules and regulations of the state finance department, who said he was refusing to participate in the scheme.

The revision of regulations, which annuls rule 6, would exempt from the operation of the sales tax building contractors and those who sell material to them, Herman's letter disclosed. He said the decision was made for the immediate purpose of refunding $700,000 in sales taxes paid under protest.

May Bring Court Fight.

One company, said to have paid under protest a sum approaching $700,000, is the Material Service corporation, of which Arthur Lindheimer is a vice president. He is a brother of Benjamin Lindheimer, prominent figure in the Kelly-Nash machine.

This case is scheduled for hearing today in the Circuit court of Judge Harry M. Fisher. Representatives of the Material Service corporation were said to be ready to appear and ask return of their sales tax payments on the basis of the change in regulations.

Possibility that a court battle may ensue was seen in the report that Attorney General John Cassidy would appear to contest the payment. Cassidy was not informed of the change in regulations, it was said in Springfield, and will take his place in court as a representative of the state.

Terms of Annulled Rule.

The annulled rule held that persons who sell materials to "contractors, subcontractors, or real estate owners for use by them in construction, erection, or repair of buildings, foundations, roads, or other improvements are liable for tax with respect to their gross receipts on the sale of such materials." It also ruled that contractors who furnish and install fixtures are making sales at retail and must pay tax with respect to the selling price of these fixtures.

This regulation, Herman stated, was based on two Supreme court decisions obtained after tax protests had been carried to the high court. While the sales tax law allows the department heads to use their judgment in drafting regulations, Herman said, previous practice had been to follow legal precedent when it was possible.

As revised, the resigning official pointed out, rule 6 now provides "that neither persons who sell materials to contractors, nor contractors who use such materials in construction incur tax liabilities."

No Hearings on Change.

Herman said the revision "was drafted in secret without prior notice to the department itself, without public attention and without public hearings which so major a change in tax rulings and policy should command."

"While revision of rule 6 exempts arbitrarily groups of taxpayers best able to assume the tax," Herman's letter continued, "the aged, the needy, and the underprivileged of Illinois will continue as in the past to pay—by having passed on to them—a 3 per cent tax on the bare necessities of life. I cannot conscientiously remain in office and undertake as I shall be compelled to do, a public justification of the revision of rule 6."

It was explained that new court actions were brought by material companies and contractors after the Supreme court had ruled on the sales tax. Such suits built up the large total of sales tax money held in escrow pending final disposition of the cases.

Tax Collected from Others.

"The litigating taxpapers," Herman contended, "are not now entitled to such return [of the $700,000] because the issues have not been decided in court; the taxpayers have collected the tax from others and there is no insurance or expectation that the returned $700,000 will ever be returned by the taxpayers to

DE VALERA TURNS DOWN BRITISH BID FOR BASES

Asserts Ireland to Stay on Neutral Side.

BY HUGH CURRAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DUBLIN, Ireland, Nov. 7.—Prime Minister Eamon De Valera tonight emphatically rejected suggestions that Ireland surrender or lease strategic ports to Britain for use as naval and air bases.

Eamon De Valera.

He solemnly assured the Dail [parliament] that there could be "no question, under any conditions whatsoever," of handing over the ports to Britain so long as Ireland remains neutral.

De Valera was cheered as he declared that the government would defend the nation's neutrality and asserted that pressure from any source would "lead only to bloodshed."

Will Die for Principle.

"We may be facing a great crisis," he declared, "but we do so knowing that we are right even if we have to die for it."

De Valera said his statement was prompted by a British press campaign, 'reechoed in the United States," following Prime Minister Winston Churchill's complaint that the ban on British flotillas in Irish ports put a "most heavy and grievous burden" on Britain's efforts to combat German U-boats.

He denied there was any lack of faith on his part and said that "it is a lie to say that German submarines or any other submarines are supplied with fuel or provisions in our ports." These charges, he said, have been recognized as false by the British.

AGITATE FOR PORTS

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 7.—Prime Minister Winston Churchill's complaint that the lack of naval bases on the west coast of southern Ireland was imposing a "grievous burden" on British shipping has brought both press and parliamentary agitation to remedy the situation.

The press devotes considerable space to the reasons why Britain needs sea bases in Ireland. At the same time, Prime Minister Eamonn de Valera's neutrality stand is declared to be not really neutral in that it "bars the British navy."

Trade Diverted.

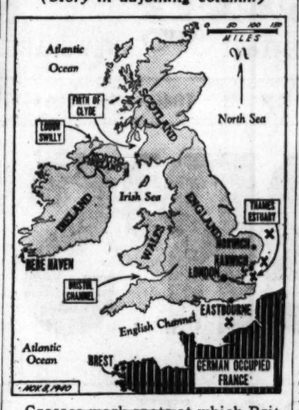
Proximity of German air and sea bases in France has forced a good deal of British trade to be diverted from east coast to west coast ports.

The Evening Standard declares that destroyers based in Lough Swilly could easily guard the trade lanes which lead to Clyde and Liverpool, and flotillas based at Bere Haven could clear the lanes to the Bristol channel and southwest ports. Lough Swilly and Bere Haven are in Ireland.

The Daily Express says that no one "takes seriously the suggestion that the bases should be taken back and force used if necessary."

The War at Sea

(Story in adjoining column.)



Crosses mark spots at which British convoys were attacked by German planes, according to claims made in Berlin. Britain is anxious to establish naval bases at Lough Swilly and Bere Haven, Ireland, but has been rebuffed.

NAZIS' REPLY MAY BAR U. S. REFUGEE LINER TO BRITAIN

German Pledge of Safe Conduct Refused.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 7 (AP).—Germany's refusal to join Italy in giving assurances of safe conduct made it unlikely tonight that an American ship would be sent into the European war zone to bring approximately 1,200 United States citizens home from the British Isles.

The state department announced that Italy "very promptly responded favorably" to a request from the United States for a safe conduct. Germany, however, replied in a note delivered yesterday that it was "not in a position to furnish any sort of assurance of the nature requested."

In view of this, officials here indicated they could not assume the risks of sending a ship into the combat area.

Speed Urged by Kennedy.

Thus the only means by which the Americans can reach home is to take a plane to Lisbon, Portugal, and then board a clipper or American ship. Under the neutrality act, they are forbidden to travel on vessels of belligerents.

Joseph P. Kennedy, American ambassador to Great Britain, had called at the state department yesterday and expressed the hope that a vessel would be sent without delay to bring home an estimated 1,200 or 1,300 Americans seeking to return.

The variance in the positions taken by the axis partners attracted interest in diplomatic quarters here.

Altho Italian planes are said to be participating in the raids on Great Britain, the favorable Italian response was interpreted in some circles as an indication that Italy is more concerned with military operations in the Mediterranean area.

Request Made on Oct. 27.

The request was made to Germany and Italy on Oct. 27. It was planned to send the ship to a western Ireland port, probably Galway.

When the Italian reply was received, a copy was given to the German foreign office "with the suggestion that the government of the United States would be glad to receive similar assurances," the state department said.

11 BRITISH SHIPS HIT BY BOMBS; 1 SUNK, NAZI CLAIM

BERLIN, Nov. 7 (AP).—Authoritative German quarters forecast tonight an even fiercer counterblockade of Britain, claiming at the same time that considerably more than a third of the shipping space available to the British at the outset of the war already had been destroyed.

In the aerial phase bomb hits were reported scored today on 11 ships, one of them a cruiser, and one of the merchant ships sunk.

New construction and use of foreign ships are insufficient to cover Britain's growing ship losses, the authoritative commentary Dienst aus Deutschland said.

Thru the use of planes, submarines, and surface raiders the claimed rate of destruction now stands one-fourth higher than that of the unrestricted world war campaign against the ships of Britain, her allies, and friends.

Smash at Four Convoys.

The aerial phase was illustrated in a report that German bombing planes smashed today at four convoys off the British coast with the following results:

Northeast of Norwich: six ships hit, two fired.

Off Harwich: a 5,000 ton ship hit by two bombs.

Thames estuary: a British cruiser seriously damaged; a 4,000 ton freighter sunk; a 5,000 ton freighter hit and an armed escort vessel of about 10,000 tons bombed.

Dienst aus Deutschland declared that a stepping up of the air-sea counterblockade could be expected.

The commentary said "informed circles close to the navy" held that Britain could not make up for the previously announced total of 7,162,000 tons of British shipping space and space available to the British destroyed in the first 14 months of the war.

New Factors Introduced.

While the convoy system was successful against world war U-boats, they added, it fails to insure merchant ships against combined air-naval attacks with their "progress in technique and tactics." In the English channel, another factor is the fire of guns mounted on the German occupied French coast.

The German high command reported that artillery fire today damaged one ship so badly that it had to drop out of a British convoy southeast of Dover.

The high command communique sketched the results of yesterday's counterblockade actions, claiming three freighters were bombed severly some 300 miles west of Ireland.

ITALIANS CROSS RAGING RIVER TO ATTACK GREEKS

Launch Furious Attack in Drive on Janina.

ROME, Nov. 7 (AP).—Italian troops driving on the strategic city of Janina in northwestern Greece struck harder blows tonight. The Fascists were across the raging Kalamas river, a natural defensive barrier. The stream was crossed only after Italian army engineers had performed feats considered prodigious here.

The Italians hurled more troops and bombing planes at the Greek defenses which still bar their path to Janina, a manufacturing city which lies from 10 to 20 miles southeast of the Kalamas river. The city is only 42 miles from the point where the Greek and Albanian borders meet the sea. The river roughly follows the Albanian border in its devious path to the northeast.

Some 100 miles farther north in the Macedonian theater of the war, Greek troops entrenched in the approaches to Florina, the gateway to Salonika, were harassed by bombs and machine gun bullets. These defenses, the high command said, lie mainly along the southern shores of Lake Presba, where the Greek frontier meets Albania and Jugo-Slavia.

Lay Route for Future Advance.

It had been eight days since Italian troops had reached the canyon like bed of the Kalamas and during that time, military dispatches said, engineers and other troops daily had to surmount innumerable difficulties to lay the route for the further advance. Wooden sleds were built to move pontoons over the mountains for floating bridges.

Heavy rains had turned the river into a snarling torrent, 200 feet wide in places, with the water rushing between the steep walls at the rate of 20 feet a second. At one point a bridge had to be built across a rugged gorge 900 feet deep.

While this was going on the engineers transformed mule paths into roads over which the Italian tanks and motor lorries, loaded with troops, now are passing.

Greek Troops Dig In.

ATHENS, Nov. 7 (AP).—Greek forces dug in tonight in their main fortifications near the Ionian sea to fight it out with the Italians, whose grand assault appeared under way.

The Italians, launching a massive offensive by land and air, were reported reliably to have established contact with the main Greek lines at some points on this extreme left of the slanting battlefront after the Greeks made a "slight" retreat to new positions.

Neutral observers said, however, the Greeks were firmly entrenched in their well fortified emplacements, blasted from the sides of the rugged mountains.

Use Faster Planes.

The Greeks disclosed the Italians had thrown newer and faster bombing and fighting planes into the battle. Heretofore they had used biplanes which neutral air experts regarded as second line craft.

Military experts said the Italians had moved heavy forces into the Epirus battle to divert Greek pressure from Koritza, Fascist base 100 miles to the north. Greek artillery is declared to have Koritza, 10 miles inside Albania, under its control.

It was possible that Greek capture of Koritza might slow down or even halt the Italian coast drive thru a rear guard threat.

British Bomb Brindisi.

CAIRO, Egypt, Nov. 7 (AP).—British bombers have made a punishing raid on Brindisi, vital port and naval base at the heel of the Italian boot, RAF headquarters here announced tonight. A communique said the raid took place Tuesday night, and reported that bomb bursts and steady fires were observed in the naval dockyard, destroyer and submarine pens, the main railway junction, and railway sidings.

Italian Assault Under Way

(Story in adjoining column.)

Italian forces yesterday launched a drive on the southern front in an effort to clear the way to Janina, while the Greeks were capturing Koritza in the north. Both sides were threatened by the possibility of rear guard action as a result of the advances in south and north.

JUGO-SLAVIAN PRESS URGES ARMED REPLY TO ANY ATTACKERS

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, Nov. 7 (AP).—The Jugo-Slav press praised today the government's announcement it would answer with "armed force" any repetition of attacks on Jugo-Slav territory such as the bombing of Bitolj Tuesday by unidentified foreign planes.

Gen. Milan Nedic. [A. P. Wirephoto.]

The Hrvatski Dnevnik of Zagreb expressed the opinion that the bombers had mistaken Bitolj for one of the cities in the nearby Greek-Albanian war zone, but warned:

"In the future Jugo-Slavia will be ready to protect its neutrality."

Gen. Petar Pesitch took over the war ministry portfolio relinquished last night by Gen. Milan Nedic, reported to have resigned because government orders prevented Jugo-Slav troops from firing on the planes which bombed Bitolj.

MANY OFFICIALS ATTEND FETE AT SOVIET EMBASSY

Washington, D. C., Nov. 7 [Special].—United States officials and diplomats of foreign nations by the hundreds today attended the annual reception given at the Soviet embassy by the Ambassador and Madame Constantine A. Oumansky. The occasion was the celebration of the anniversary of the Russian revolution of 1917.

Today's reception was in marked contrast to that a year ago, when only a few subordinate officials attended the reception. At that time U. S. relations with the Soviet were under a cloud. The reception today was in a very different atmosphere, with friendliness evident on all sides.

Altho many United States cabinet officers were prevented from attending by previous engagements, the American contingent of hundreds of officials of the executive departments, armed services and independent agencies were headed by Jesse H. Jones, secretary of commerce and federal loan administrator.

RUSSIA SHAKES MECHANIZED FIST IN WORLD'S FACE

Warns She Stands Ready to Fight Any One.

MOSCOW, Nov. 7 (AP).—Russia poured new guns and formations across Red Square today on the 23d anniversary of her revolution, and her defense commissar announced "at any moment the Red army is ready to deal a crushing blow to any one who dares to violate the holy frontiers of the U. S. S. R."

The army, which paraded its choicest units past Josef Stalin and his lieutenants has been reorganized in the last six months. The progress of its artillery—completely mechanized—was particularly conspicuous today.

Long range naval guns, howitzers, antiaircraft pieces, and a new cannon slightly larger than the standard 75 mm. guns, appeared in the two hour procession, while overhead the bright wings of new low winged fighter planes glistened in the sun.

Held Ready for Any Attack.

Before the parade the troops heard Semeon Timoshenko, defense commissar, declare they would be called upon to crush any attack on soviet borders and key them to "maximum vigilance in an exceptionally alarming international situation."

It is under Timoshenko that Russia has built up her new military machine in the last six months while the other great European powers were at war.

Civilian Groups March.

High speed tanks and thick formations of armored cars dashed across the square.

Following the troops, civilian groups marched, all day long, across the square. Describing the younger groups, Tass, the soviet news agency, said: "Many of them have become pilots and parachutists, chauffeurs, riders, and snipers without interrupting their daily work."

LONDON, Nov. 7 (AP).—A son was born to Daphne du Maurier, authoress of the novel "Rebecca" today.

Secret Service Discovers New Counterfeit $5 Bills

Washington, D. C., Nov. 7 (AP).—The secret service announced today that two new counterfeit $5 notes had appeared in eastern cities. One of them bears the check letter "J" with face plate number 870 and back plate number 1016 and has the treasury seal and serial numbers printed in blue instead of green. It purports to be a federal reserve note. The other counterfeit purports to be a silver certificate, bears the check letter "J," face plate number 870 and back plate number 947.

PETAIN CHEERED ON TRIP TO SELL RULE TO PEOPLE

Finds Support in Area Noted for Radicalism.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VICHY, France, Nov. 7.—Marshal Henri Philippe Petain returned to Vichy today after what appears to have been a successful attempt to sell his government to the French people.

At Toulouse and Montauban, two centers of Socialism and Radical Socialism, Petain was acclaimed personally and received the good wishes of many that he may be able to succeed in the task his government has set for itself.

Observers who saw the marshal confront the crowds said that definite signs were evident of the French wish for reconciliation of the political strife which many believe caused the loss of the war.

Plans Other Trips.

Petain's three day trip will be followed by several other excursions, among which may be visits to the region beyond the line of demarcation if present negotiations with the Germans go off well.

The journey just ended demonstrated that Petain has the respect and affection of most of his countrymen. Everywhere he was met with "vivas" in a district of France noted as a stronghold of those who were in power during the old régime, but who now are mostly behind the guarded gates of the Chazeron and Pellevoisin houses of detention.

Petain got back to Vichy at 10 o'clock this morning, accompanied by Minister of the Interior Marcel Peyroutoin and Minister Without Portfolio Paul Baudouin. He was met at the station by Vice Premier Pierre Laval, Gen. Charles Huntziger, and Admiral Jean Darlan. Petain and Laval then drove together to the Hotel du Parc, where they held a prolonged conference.

Laval to Go to Paris.

Laval was expected to proceed to Paris later in the day to continue parleys with the Germans, rejoining François de Brinon, who has been named representative of Laval there with the status of ambassador.

Reports are current that the British are pressing the French for an exact definition of the status of French ports on the Mediterranean with respect to German negotiations. The French declare that the Mediterranean ports still are governed by the armistice terms—that is, free of any use by the Germans.

Gen Jean Marie Bergeret, secretary of state for aviation, is making an inspection of air defenses in Dakar and French West Africa. Indications are that the French are digging in to hold their colonial possessions in Africa against all comers.

EX-AID OF AMERICAN EMBASSY SENTENCED IN BRITAIN AS A SPY

Tyler Kent.

LONDON, Nov. 7 (AP).—Anna Wolkoff, charged with Tyler Kent, discharged employé of the United States embassy, with violating Britain's official secrets act in a spy plot, was convicted and sentenced today to 10 years' imprisonment. Kent was sentenced to seven years.

Miss Wolkoff, 37 years old, is the daughter of a former Russian naval attaché to London. Kent was convicted last week but his sentence was postponed until after the trial of Miss Wolkoff.

Kent, a former code clerk at the embassy, had been discharged before he was arrested. The judge told Kent he had been convicted of five offenses of obtaining and communicating documents which might be of use to Germany for a purpose prejudicial to the safety and interests of the state.

Miss Wolkoff, a naturalized Briton, sent a code letter to "a traitor who broadcasts in Germany for the purpose of weakening the war efforts of this country," the judge said.

France, Rumania Agree on Terms of Economic Pact

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Nov. 7 (AP).—Conclusion of a French-Rumanian economic agreement was announced today. Officials and delegates from countries under German occupation are discussing trade under the "new European order."

CHARGES BRITISH SEA LORD IS 'NOT THE MAN HE WAS'

Critic in Commons Assails Acts of Admiralty.

LONDON, Nov. 7 (AP).—Commander Robert Tatton Bower, world war veteran and member of parliament, told the house of commons today there is "definite disquiet about the board of admiralty as a whole" in its conduct of Britain's naval affairs.

Commander Bower.

He asserted that Sir Dudley Pound, first sea lord, is "not the man he was."

Long noted for his outspoken comment, Bower participated in a short debate on the sinking of the aircraft carrier Glorious with a loss of 1,204 men in the Norwegian campaign.

Shunted to Lower Job.

He charged that he was shunted to an "inferior" appointment in the navy after writing to First Lord of the Admiralty A. V. Alexander that "grave concern was felt among many responsible members of the naval staff at the conduct of operations in Norway and also in connection with loss of the Glorious."

He declared that the war was not being fought to set up Alexander "as a little pinchback Himmler [chief of the German secret police]."

Bower, a Conservative, charged that a "fog of secrecy" had been imposed to "conceal the deficiencies of senior officers."

Not the Only Victim.

"It is no use Alexander's saying there has been no disquiet," Bower added. "I am not the only officer who has been made subject of these gestapo methods."

Alexander rose to deny there ever was "any victimization of Bower" and added: "I have no reason not to pay tribute to the service, capacity, and patriotic devotion of the first sea lord [Pound]."

"Our first and only duty at the moment," he asserted, "is to concentrate upon beating a very ruthless enemy."

RUMANIA WITHDRAWS ITS COMMISSAR FROM AMERICAN PHONE FIRM

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Nov. 7 (AP).—Commissars placed by Rumania in charge of property of Rumania's American owned telephone company and its manufacturing subsidiaries were withdrawn today following representations by the United States legation.

During diplomatic discussions Premier General Ion Antonescu assured the American minister that Rumania was eager to keep American businesses in the country.

REPORT TURKEY ARRESTS 100 IN A SPY ROUNDUP

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Nov., 7 (AP).—The arrest of nearly 100 spy suspects was reported tonight. The story was that the roundup followed apprehension of a man, accused of having a short wave radio station, who had submitted a list of supposed accomplices. There were rumors that Italians, Germans, and Bulgarians were among those detained.

[The British news agency Reuters said that a number of Germans were leaving Turkey in connection with the roundup.]

Hear Nazis Told to Quit Greece.

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, Nov. 7 (AP).—Trustworthy advices from Greece said today that all Germans in Greece had been advised by German officials to leave the country at once. This move was interpreted as an indication that Germany foresees no early settlement of the conflict. German sources in Belgrade, however, said that the only Germans advised to leave were those in Greece temporarily.

JAPAN ALONE CAN DEVELOP DUTCH INDIES, JAP SAYS

TOKIO, Nov. 8, Friday (AP).—Continued Dutch control of the Netherlands East Indies depends to a large degree on relations of the Dutch with Japan, Japanese Commerce Minister Ichizo Kobayashi said today in an interview.

"Authorities there realize that to maintain their island government they must shake hands with us," said Kobayashi, who recently returned from a special commercial mission to Batavia.

He said Japan has no intention of interfering with the Indies' exports of rubber and tin to America and has "no more territorial or political ambitions in the direction of the Indies."

He commented that "Japan is the only nation able to invest capital and develop the East Indies."

Expect to Seize Control of German Air.

BULLETIN.

LONDON, Nov. 8, Friday (AP).—Royal air force bombers carried out an "exceedingly heavy attack" during the night on the great Krupp armament works at Essen, Germany, an official source announced today. Attacks also were reported on oil plants in Germany and on "invasion ports" and airdromes in the Nazi-occupied area of France.

LONDON, Nov. 8, Friday (AP).—The nightly axis air raid on London spread flare guided incendiary and high explosive bombs on the city from dusk last night until past midnight. Then the "all clear" signal was given early today, several hours ahead of "schedule."

Public utility services, shops, and private homes "at various points" in England were damaged during the night by German air raiders, the government reported today, but indicated casualties were small.

Plan to Increase Attacks.

At the same time signs indicated that the British air force was urgently preparing to increase—not lessen—the tempo of its counterattack during the coming winter.

Nothing short of control of German skyways and a complete "bomb blockade" of Nazi heavy industry, one neutral air observer said, is the British winter and spring aim — a step to a possible attempt to fight to the decision then with field armies.

Discussing Britain's winter campaign, a qualified neutral informant said it probably would be a carefully defined process intended first to destroy German war factories and second to smash railroad and shipping facilities—but aimed above all else at damaging German morale. He added that next would come an attempt to gain daylight air supremacy over all Germany.

Attack Berlin Suburbs.

The air ministry reported new bombing thrusts to the outskirts of Berlin, at vital areas far inside Germany and along the blackened Nazi-held coast line Wednesday night.

Other British bombers were declared to have assaulted a Nazi convoy of eight or nine big motor vessels, each averaging some 4,000 tons, off Den Helder, Holland, and attacked at other far separated points.

Seven raiders were reported shot down yesterday and five British planes with all the British pilots saved.

Nazi Plane Loss Claims.

BERLIN, Nov. 7 (AP).—Authorized sources said tonight that 10 British planes had been shot down today in air fights over London against the loss of one German craft. In Wednesday's attacks the Germans claimed their planes struck damaging blows at south England, Liverpool, Birmingham, Coventry, and airdromes at Great Driffield and Leeming.

HEART ATTACK KILLS WOMAN.

Miss Augusta Blasio, 71 years old, of 3811 Lincoln avenue, a resident of Chicago for 50 years, died in Augustana hospital last night after suffering a heart attack at 1814 Lincoln Park West.

BRITAIN WARNS ROME RUNS RISK OF AIR BOMBING

LONDON, Nov. 7 (AP).—R. A. Butler, undersecretary for foreign affairs, told the house of commons today that Britain must "reserve full liberty of action in regard to Rome" since Italian flyers had bombed London.

When Italy entered the war Mussolini's government declared Rome an open [or undefended] city not used for military purposes, in order to preserve its antiquities from destruction by bombs. It has not been bombed, but on Monday, when British flyers bombed Naples, the capital had an early morning air raid alarm.

Since the war began with Greece, the Italian radio has broadcast a virtual pledge that Athens would be spared by Italian bombers unless Rome is raided. Athens itself has not yet been bombed.

LONDON STARTS 'LIVE ON THE JOB' PLAN TILL SPRING

Sleep and Eat at Office, Employes Told.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 7.—The task of adjusting the productive life of the nation to blitzkrieg conditions continues to be the main preoccupation of political, public utility, and business circles.

The "living on the job" movement, it was stated today, will be extended to all branches of business and industry to help defeat the effect of the blockout and bomb raids and to ease the pressure on London's transport system.

Large numbers of civil servants, bank employés, and police will have beds and breakfast on their business premises in London to avoid journeys to and from their homes in the early blackout of the winter.

Allowances for Food.

Civil servants who sleep in their offices are allowed 3 shillings [about 60 cents] for an evening meal and breakfast; bank employés, 4 shillings [about 80 cents].

One plan provides that civil servants sleep in their offices two nights a week and that service be continued by alternating three day shifts.

Minister of Home Security Herbert Morrison announced that of the men registering on Saturday for military service, those 30 years old and over who were not in reserved occupations may volunteer as auxiliary firemen and if accepted be exempted from military service.

Seek to Reduce Waste.

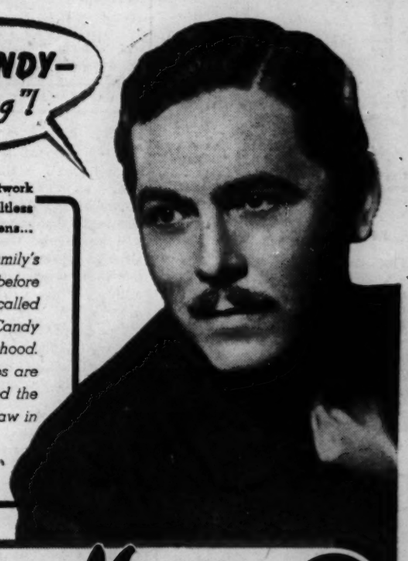
Minister of Health Malcolm MacDonald announced that in order to save food and furniture in damaged houses from undue exposure to the weather he had rescinded the order forbidding the removal of personal effects and property from bombed places before the damage had been assessed.

Owners were urged to save what they can where it does not interfere with salvage work or the safety of persons. MacDonald promised that assessors would take the owner's word for a reasonable estimate of the damage.

British Seize Gandhi Aid While on Anti-War Hike

WARDHA, India, Nov. 7 (AP).—Brahmadutt Rai Nirmal, who started an antiwar hike as a novel form of passive resistance to British authority in India, was arrested today. He is the third nominee of Mohandas K. Gandhi to defy the British in a civil disobedience campaign. The others also have been arrested.

FANNIE MAY CANDY—
Gets "Top Rating"!



VINCENT PELLETIER, leading Chicago radio network announcer, famed from coast to coast for his faultless diction, said this after a visit to the Fannie May Kitchens...

• "A box of Fannie May coming up! That's my family's idea of a really first-class announcement! Long before I visited the Fannie May Kitchens, my program called for pretty consistent visits at the Fannie May Candy Shops—both in the Loop and in our neighborhood. Say, by the way those Fannie May Candy Shops are spotted all over the town, couldn't they be called the Fannie May network? At any rate, from what I saw in the Fannie May Kitchens, I know why in our house Fannie May Candy gets 'Top Rating'!"

NEW DEAL ASKS 60-65 BILLION U. S. DEBT LIMIT

Federal Securities Tax Also Proposed.

helping defray expanding costs of the rearmament program, which so far totals more than 15 billion dollars.

One of the first steps in the government's financing program, he said, will be to add the 4 billion dollars already authorized for defense financing to the regular debt limit of 45 billions. This is merely a technical move.

The government, he asserted, does not contemplate any attempt to impose retroactive taxation on government securities, but it would apply to new issues. He admitted that removal of the exemption feature, which has been one of the strong selling points for government securities, may raise the cost of government financing, but he declined to estimate the rate on new issues.

Urges U. S. Security Taxes.

"The time has come," Morgenthau said, "to make all government securities pay taxes. Just as soon as the proper congressional committee meets, I or a representative of the treasury will place the matter before it.

"The increase in the debt limit will make it possible to borrow all the money appropriated by congress and will give the opportunity to borrow at the best rate and time needed."

It is impossible, he said, to adopt now a pay as you go basis, indicating clearly that the fiscal program calls for continuance of deficit financing, which has been bitterly criticized thruout this administration. Morgenthau insisted that he had no fear of inflation.

Off to Inspect Bases.

"With Roosevelt here we can take the necessary steps when abnormal price trends appear and we are going to watch every minute," Morgenthau said. "We will keep the cost of living stable."

Morgenthau left this afternoon to inspect defense projects in Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, and Jamaica, one of the British possessions where the government plans a new base.

OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 7 (AP).—Royal Canadian air force headquarters announced tonight leading Aircraftman P. D. Carvalho of Toledo, O., was killed this afternoon near Fort William, Ont., in the collision of two air force planes.

New Deal Anticipates New Debt Total

Record of the federal government's debt since 1920, with totals for 1941 and 1942 estimated. In asking for a new debt limit, Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau yesterday declared that the debt possibly will go to 65 billion by June 30, 1942.

DEFENSE ROLE OF HANDICAPPED YOUTH OUTLINED

The role physically handicapped youth may take in America's defense preparations was discussed last night at a dinner meeting of the Illinois Association for the Crippled in the La Salle hotel. The group is holding its fourth annual meeting.

Miss Tracy Copp, assistant vocational rehabilitation director in the United States office of education, Washington, D. C., stressed the need for proper training of physically handicapped persons so that they may fill places in industry vacated by men who may be called into active military service. K. Vernon Banta, supervisor of handicapped placement for the United States employment service, declared that handicapped persons can aid in national defense only if they are trained for jobs which they can fill adequately.

More than 200 persons attended the dinner, which will be followed today by sessions in which the organization's work for the coming year will be planned.

Crap Games Obstructing Sidewalk, but They'll Fade

Riverside, Ga., Nov. 7 (AP).—When the Civic club here complained to county commissioners that daily crap games obstructed sidewalks, a commissioner asked: "Are you sure it isn't dominoes they play?" Promptly replied Club President John T. Lord: "I said craps. I'm an old soldier and I know a crap game when I see it." Convinced, the commissioners ordered police to break up the games.

COLLEGE ARMS TRAINING URGED BY YALE'S CHIEF

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 7 (AP).—President Charles Seymour of Yale university suggested today a "modified Swiss system" of universal military training for American college students.

Such a plan, he said, would provide for one or more four month periods of intensive military training during the summer vacations "for all students in recognized educational institutions."

The suggestion was put forward by Dr. Seymour in his annual report to alumni as methods in which Yale might assist in meeting "the peril approaching the United States and our own university life and ideals."

GOV. DICKINSON TO SEEK TEST OF SUCCESSION RULE

Lansing, Mich., Nov. 7 [Special].—Gov. Luren D. Dickinson, 81 year old Republican who was defeated for re-election by Murray D. Vanwagoner, Democratic highway commissioner, revealed today that he will attempt to appoint to the lieutenant governorship the winner of the contest for that office.

The governor desires a court interpretation of the constitutional provisions regarding succession when a governor dies in office.

Dickinson was elevated to the governor's chair in March, 1939, when Gov. Frank D. Fitzgerald died. When legal authorities disagreed as to whether the vacant lieutenant governorship could be filled by appointment, Dickinson decided to postpone any test action until the election of a new lieutenant governor.

It appeared today that the appointee will be Frank Murphy, Detroit Democrat who had an unofficial lead of some 16,000 votes over the Republican nominee, Dr. Eugene C. Keyes of Dearborn.

Murphy is no relative of Justice Frank Murphy of the United States Supreme court, predecessor of Fitzgerald in the governor's chair.

France Gives Prison Term to Syrian Student in U. S.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 7 [Special].—Fakhri Maluf, University of Michigan graduate student from Syria, learned today from Syrian newspapers mailed to him that he had been sentenced in absentia by the Petain government of France to 15 years in prison for his writings advocating independence and social reform for Syria. Maluf, who is in this country on an indefinite scholarship permit, said he guessed he would stay awhile. He formerly was on the faculty of the American university at Beirut, Syria, for five years.

ILLINOIS LEADS NATION IN SCOPE OF G. O. P. GAINS

Michigan Swings Over to Willkie Column.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

A bird's-eye view of the national election Tuesday, in the light of virtually complete returns, discloses Illinois to be the outstanding state of the country in Republican gains.

Among the western states that formed the bulwark of Republican strength Illinois led all the rest. Illinois gained a Republican governor, a Republican senator, 6 Republican congressmen, 4 state officials, and members of both houses in the state legislature. Thus Illinois becomes a Republican voice of authority in the nation.

The complete returns also showed that the middle west contributed another state to Wendell L. Willkie in the Presidential contest. Willkie carried Michigan by a plurality of 1,571 in the final tally. As a result President Roosevelt carried 38 states with 449 electoral votes, Willkie 10 states with 82 votes.

Greatest Success in West.

The west, where the Republican party was born 86 years ago, was the scene of its greatest successes in the 1940 election. The wave of Republican gains swept the west from the Pacific coast to the Allegheny mountains, over which it barely broke. Only little Delaware in the east scored a Republican gain. Its incumbent Democratic governor was replaced by a Republican.

West of the Alleghenies the Republican comeback was recorded in varying degrees ranging all the way from the gain of one congressman each in Minnesota, Oklahoma, and California, up to the grand smash in Illinois, where Republican Wayland Brooks defeated Democratic Senator James M. Slattery, where Republican Dwight Green defeated Democrat Harry B. Hershey for the governorship, and where the defeat of six Democratic representatives gave the Republicans the majority of the Illinois delegation in the house at Washington.

A State-Wide Sweep.

That the Republican comeback in Illinois was no local phenomenon but a state-wide sweep was emphasized by the fact that in addition to the senatorship and the governorship the Republican gains included the seats of the two congressmen at large. Republicans William G. Stratton and Stephen A. Day defeated the Democratic nominees, Representative Thomas V. Smith and Walter J. Orlikoski.

The other four gains of congress seats were in the 9th, 21st, 24th and 25th districts, where Republicans Charles S. Dewey, Evan Howell, James V. Heidinger, and C. W. Bishop defeated Democratic incumbents James McAndrews, Frank W. Fries, Claude V. Parsons, and Kent E. Keller.

G. O. P. Controls Delegation.

With these gains Illinois will have 16 Republicans, 11 Democrats in the national house in the next congress, the 77th, which meets Jan. 3. The Republicans will have a majority of the Illinois delegation for the first time since the 72d congress, elected in 1930. The New Deal swept away that majority in the 1932 election. The reappearance of a Republican majority in the Illinois delegation in the congress elected Tuesday, taken in conjunction with Republican gains elsewhere and the narrow popular vote majority Mr. Roosevelt had in the north, may signalize the turning of the tide against the New Deal.

COUNTY GETS 'BUDGETACHE' OVER $6,509,922

Cook county's 1941 budget estimates for operating expenses call for $6,509,922 more than it can expect to receive in revenue, the county board was told yesterday by Deputy Controler Richard J. Daley and County Auditor Lee J. Howard.

Lee J. Howard.

The estimated operating expenses will be $21,176,416. The expected revenue will be $14,666,494. The county's finances are complicated this year by an Illinois Supreme court ruling that it must pay $3,163,127 in Municipal court costs for cases to which it was a party between the years 1932-'38, inclusive.

"It appears we will have to ask the state legislature for permission to sell bonds to cover the $3,163,126 judgment," said Maurice F. Kavanagh, chairman of the board's finance committee. "The services expected from our charitable institutions, such as county hospital and Oak Forest infirmary, have so increased that we don't have adequate money for them, let alone these court costs."

The year's revenue will be derived from current tax collections, based upon the 28 cent rate per $100 of assessed valuation as fixed by law, and from tax penalties and fee offices. The county's tax share is estimated at $6,987,052.93 and its penalty income at 6 million.

REPEAL DAYLIGHT SAVING LAW.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 7 (AP).—Springfield citizens voted in Tuesday's election to repeal the ordinance which established daylight saving time here last summer for the first time since the world war. The vote was 24,364 to 16,079.

$577,295 FOR NAVY TO BUY GLENVIEW AIRPORT ARRIVES

United States Attorney J. Albert Woll yesterday received a check for $577,295 from the United States treasury representing the price the navy will pay to acquire title to the Curtiss-Reynolds airport in Glenview. This transaction is necessary in order that the air field may qualify as a possible site for the new $8,400,000 airplane engine research laboratory. Woll said he would file the check and a petition for transfer of title with the clerk of the district court next week. The clerk then will be authorized to issue two checks, one for $537,795 to the Curtiss-Reynolds corporation, owner of the property, and the other for $39,500 to H. S. Darr, who operates a school of aeronautics on the field under an army contract.

those who have actually paid the tax."

"All taxpayers in the state have reason to be concerned," said J. T. Meek, executive secretary of the Illinois Federation of Retail associations, "because revenue lost from one source will have to be replaced by more taxes from other sources. In the past, we have always been notified whenever a change in the tax program was under consideration.

Herman addressed his letter of resignation to Al Carter, who was appointed by Gov. Stelle as director of finance to succeed Samuel Nudelman, head of the sickroom regency during the prolonged invalidism of the late Gov. Henry Horner. The resignation was accepted and Gordon Franklin, an attorney of Marion, Williamson county, was named supervisor of rules and regulations.

Director Carter said he had studied the tax law and had made the revision on the theory that the legislature never intended to tax the building industry when it passed the retailers' occupation tax act.

Arguments for Revision.

"I am of the opinion," he said, "that the building contractor is engaged in a profession in which his skill and technical ability to construct and erect is more to be considered than the materials with which he works. I consider a contractor in a service occupation and not as a seller of merchandise. In my opinion the contractor does not use nor consume the materials he buys from the material man; therefore, I feel that the legislature did not intend to tax the material men on their sales to contractors."

Carter said the revision had been made in an effort to speed up defense building and to give greater employment. He said defense manufacturing plants will be attracted to Illinois with the change, since competitive situations will be benefited.

The statehouse machine also was attacked yesterday in Sangamon county Circuit court with a charge that highway department officials have conspired to award an unlawful contract to a high bidder for the sale of 21 heavy snow plows to the highway department.

Asks for Injunction.

The suit, a bill for an injunction, was brought by W. R. von Tobel, a Springfield attorney, who said he was a member of the Taxpayers' Association of Illinois. The complaint alleges that state officials seek to award the contract for the 21 snow plows to the Walters Motor Truck company of Ridgewood, N. Y., on its bid of $168,000, altho the Four Wheel Drive company of Clintonville submitted a bid of $148,000.

The complaint further alleges that the Walters' bid was for equipment "inferior and of a lighter quality" than specifications and that the prices to the state are higher than its prices on the general market for the same trucks.

MRS. ROOSEVELT CANCELS PARTY FOR DIPLOMATS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 7 (AP).—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt said today the traditional diplomatic reception would not be held at the White House this year "because of war conditions in Europe and the feeling that it might be embarrassing for members of the diplomatic corps."

No diplomatic dinner was held last year, and Mrs. Roosevelt said this function again would be omitted this year.

At her first press conference since President Roosevelt's reëlection, Mrs. Roosevelt also said that because "Warm Springs, Ga., is too far away," the President and she would not go there for Thanksgiving as has been their custom. Instead, she said, they would be here at the White House or at Hyde Park, N. Y.

Ickes Offers to Resign if White House Wishes

Washington, D. C., Nov. 7 (AP).—Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes submitted his resignation to President Roosevelt today, offering to step out of his post when and if the White House chooses to accept it. Ickes told his press conference that in offering to resign he acted only to give the President a free hand should he desire to make a cabinet change. Ickes acted similarly after the President's reëlection in 1936, as is customary, but not all his colleagues in the cabinet followed suit.

Ickes cited the fact that President Roosevelt was supported during his three campaigns by less than half the daily newspapers in the United States as evidence of the nonexistence of a "truly free press." He called this a perilous state of affairs and invited the nation's publishers to discuss it editorially.

WILLKIE TO MAKE A RADIO ADDRESS ON MONDAY NIGHT

New York, Nov. 7 (AP).—Wendell L. Willkie announced tonight he would make a radio speech on Monday because "I feel an obligation to state my viewpoint of the obligations and position of the millions who voted for me."

The networks donated time for the broadcast, to be carried from 9:30 to 10 p. m. Central Standard time Monday by NBC, CBS, and Mutual

The Republican standard bearer told a press conference that he had received "stacks and stacks" of mail and telegrams and that virtually all urged him to restate his views "during his period, in view of the election."

"In view of the fact that between 22,000,000 and 23,000,000 people voted for me," Willkie said, "I feel an obligation to state my position. I feel I owe that to those who voted for me, and I also want to talk to the nation."

START OFFICIAL VOTE CANVASS; G. O. P. WATCHES

Chicago Suburban Totals for Senator Listed.

Ninety-eight teams began the official canvass yesterday in the offices of the election commission of the results of Tuesday's voting. At the same time United States Attorney J. Albert Woll announced that he was making an investigation of the 16,835 vote victory of Wayland Brooks, Republican, for the United States senate seat now held by James M. Slattery, Democrat.

Republicans expressed no concern over Slattery's complaint that some Cook county precincts came in "quite late" to aid Brooks, but their attorneys were present at the canvass.

30 CRIPPLES GET WISH; INSPECT A MODERN TRAIN

Thirty boys and girls from the Spalding school for crippled children met the train yesterday for the first time. Last week they confided to a sympathetic teacher their wish to inspect a modern streamliner. She told officials of the Chicago and North Western railroad about it. They brought the "400" into the station an hour ahead of schedule. In their wheel chairs and on their crutches, the children were assisted aboard by nurses and employés of the company. When the train pulled out, they were congregated on the station platform near the locomotive where they could see the starting signal given and wave good-by to the engineer.

BABY GIRAFFE IS BROOKFIELD ZOO NEWCOMER

A baby giraffe was born at the Brookfield zoo yesterday, and her parents aren't the only ones who think she's gorgeous. She looks as if she were wearing a beautiful white fish net over a chestnut coat, according to Assistant Director Robert Bean.

The baby was five and one-half feet tall and exceedingly hungry when she arrived. She called for lunch immediately and kept on calling for more all day. Her mother, Isiolo, seemed to have plenty of food in the cupboard, but just to be sure Mr. Bean put mama on a diet of corn meal, oat meal, brown sugar, and milk, which he said is a very fine menu for mother giraffes.

VOLUNTEERS PUT ARMY UP TO FULL PEACE STRENGTH

Enlistments Are Setting New Records.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 7 (AP).—Nearly two months ahead of scehdule, a record influx of volunteer recruits swelled the ranks of the regular army today to full peace strength, past the goal of 375,000 soldiers set by congress.

An intensive enlistment drive will be continued, however, with little slackening of pace, officials said, toward a tentative new war strength objective of about 431,000.

War strength requires an average additional expansion of units by about 15 per cent. More recruits are needed also for the air corps, and as replacements in other branches.

Nucleus of Professionals.

Providing a nucleus of professional soldiers for the million and a half men expected to be under arms by next summer, the regular army is composed of men serving three year enlistments. Drafted men will serve but one year and the National Guard was ordered mobilized for the same period.

The regulars almost have been doubled in number within a year. Congress provided the funds for expansion to 375,000 men last summer, Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff, estimating then that the requisite number of volunteers would not be obtained before the years' end. Subsequently the top limit on the regular army was lifted entirely.

All Records Broken.

Records for both peace and war time were broken in exceeding the schedule. Thus far 43,077 recruits have been reported for October, the largest number for any single month even in the world war, and officials said final returns would add several hundred more.

Men registered for the draft still are being accepted for three year enlistments in the regular army. Relatively few took advantage of the opportunity to sign up for a single year, in effect for a few weeks before registration day. For the regulars 1,338 were accepted and 12,404 for the National Guard.

1,000 IN ILLINOIS BEING CALLED TO MAN TRANSPORTS

Inquiries yesterday established that a total of 1,000 naval reservists from Illinois are being called into active service to man transports—the navy's term for vessels which carry something, whether it be men, food, coal, or fuel oil.

The first contingent of 100 men, division 30 of Peoria, left Tuesday for Philadelphia, Pa., to man the City of Los Angeles, Chicago's division 26, composed of four officers and 100 men, expects a call momentarily to man the City of Newport News at Seattle, Wash.

Eight hundred other Chicago naval reservists have been ordered to stand by, said Capt. E. A. Evers, commander of the naval reserve training squadron on the Great Lakes. He explained that the navy is taking over a total of 30 merchant vessels for use as transports and is manning practically all with naval reservists. It is navy policy, he said, to man all vessels under its control with navy personnel.

One report heard at lake ports yesterday was that the navy is taking over merchant ships to supply its outlying stations because C. I. O. sailors refuse to man them. Naval sources said they knew nothing about this.

G.O.P. TO FIGHT ON FOR PRINCIPLES, MARTIN INSISTS

Calls Defeat by Narrow Margin Hopeful Sign.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 7.—Noting the narrow margin by which Republican defeat could have been turned into victory in the Presidential campaign, Representative Joseph W. Martin Jr. [R., Mass.], chairman of the Republican national committee, declared tonight that it was only a "temporary setback."

The Republicans will support President Roosevelt as long as he is not in conflict with the principles fought for by the Republicans in the past campaign, and will prepare vigorously for the congressional elections two years hence, Martin asserted in a formal statement on the results of the national election. His statement in full was as follows:

"The campaign for Wendell L. Willkie and Senator Charles L. McNary was fought for great American principles. Those principles were approved by nearly 23 millions of American voters.

Analyze Full Returns.

"The margin between victory and defeat was very small in the large states which could have produced a Willkie and McNary majority in the electoral college. When the full returns are analyzed it will be a surprise to the country to note how very close we came to a national victory.

"While naturally disappointed, we have every reason, because of this strong national support, to continue to fight for these American principles. Success can and will be achieved if we press our cause vigorously. A crusade such as we have started cannot be stopped by this temporary setback.

"It is our purpose to take full advantage of the new and progressive leadership and support that has come to us in this campaign. We are for national unity. We are for a strong defense.

Fight for Great Principles.

"We shall support the President when not in conflict with the great principles for which we fought in this crusade. We will extend the efficiency of our organization and prepare vigorously for the congressional campaign.

"As national chairman I thank the Republican organization in the country for its loyal support of all our candidates. I am deeply grateful to the army of Willkie volunteers who gave us splendid support and also to the hosts of Democrats who put country before party.

"I hope all who joined us in this crusade will continue their interest in our cause. We shall keep up the good fight and in 1942 we will elect a Republican congress and prepare the way for a greater victory in 1944.

"A just cause cannot be stopped. Our principles must prevail if this country is to march forward to a higher and better destiny."

PLOT TO STEAL $862,000 FROM ARMY IS FOILED

Boston, Mass., Nov. 7 (AP).—What was described as a plot to rob an $862,000 pay roll for civilian construction workers at Camp Edwards, on Cape Cod, was thwarted today, army officers disclosed.

Officers said they regretted that their discovery of the plot had become known before they had an opportunity to capture "three or four suspicious characters" on the reservation, where they would have been subject to federal prosecution.

As a result an especially heavy guard was assigned to the pay roll, both by the army and an armored car service, which brought the funds from New Bedford to the camp. At the army post, during distribution of the pay roll, which was carried out without incident, armed soldiers were stationed at strategic posts, awaiting appearance of the suspects.

5 Workers Die in Collapse of Pittsburgh Traffic Tube

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 7 (AP).—Five Negro workmen were crushed to death today by the collapse of a traffic tunnel they were repairing. Eight men were in the tunnel at the time a section of the concrete roof fell, but three, warned of danger by a "sudden, loud, cracking" noise, escaped.

INFLATION DANGER AT HAND.

The stock market boiled over yesterday following announcement by Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau at his morning press conference that congress would be asked to increase the debt limit by 15 to 20 billion dollars to meet the cost of the national defense program. United States Steel rose nearly 8 points, and the average of 30 industrial stocks went up nearly 6 points.

The market was quick to sense the possibilities of inflation from the spending of such vast sums as would make the borrowing of so much money necessary. Thoughtful men, whose unselfishness is not questionable, have repeatedly asserted that if billions were added to the national debt the end would be wild and disastrous inflation.

President Roosevelt himself once depicted the danger of inflation from excessive government expenditures with a telling illustration which every one remembers. He said that if an individual spent more than his income and borrowed the rest he would go broke. It was the same with the government. The spendthrift government or individual, said Mr. Roosevelt, faces a day of reckoning when debts have to be repudiated. The illustration was used several times in the campaign of 1932.

Mr. Roosevelt's words were true when he said them, and the national debt stood at 20 billion dollars. They are even truer now with the debt 25 billions greater. And they will be ever so much truer when the national debt has been increased by the 5 billions already authorized and the 15 billions Mr. Morgenthau now asks for.

When, in his first administration, criticism was leveled against his deficit program, the President replied that some bankers had told him that the debt could be raised to 55 billion dollars, or even to 70 billion dollars without serious danger to the national credit. Authority now exists to raise the debt to 49 billions and the extension mentioned by the secretary of the treasury yesterday will bring the total close to what the President has placed as the upper limit of safety.

The reduction of government expenditures outside of the defense program ought to be taken as the first order of business in congress. Nothing is more important. If we are to arm the country by borrowing, certainly all other spending should be cut down to the size of the current revenue. That at least ought to be done. Senator Millard E. Tydings of Maryland recently declared that "immediate action is necessary or the savings, the life insurance, and all that men have struggled for will be in jeopardy." And he added, "We are in more danger of financial collapse than we are of being attacked."

VICTORY WELL DESERVED.

Now that Wayland Brooks is about to assume the dignity of a senatorial toga his admirers will doubtless slip away from his nickname of "Curly" for the more formal title of office. However, it is on Curly Brooks, the candidate with a fighting heart rather than on the senator elect, that these observations are based.

Curly, thru no fault of his own, got to be almost a perennial candidate. As he whimsically phrased it himself, he got a little tired of running second. In the dark years of the Republican party he took up the party standard and fought valiantly for it. He made a great impression on the free voters in downstate Illinois. He led the ticket. He came up to the county line and ran smack into the Kelly-Nash machine.

But Curly never stopped fighting. He fought in the campaigns in which he was not a candidate as hard as in those in which he sought office. He went to the aid of hard pressed Republicans in other states. He made himself one of the outstanding political orators of the nation.

His friends thruout the state were gratified when Curly Brooks won the senatorial nomination of his party in the campaign in which the Republican candidates were more than a forlorn hope. In his campaign he lived up to their expectations of him. He fought as he had fought in the past, with the benefit of the experience gained in his losing campaigns. When, in the closing days of the campaign, some pseudo-Republicans sought to plant a knife in his back, he kept up the courage that sustained him on the battlefields of France. He fought all the harder and he won.

Senator Brooks will take that fighting heart to Washington. In the senate his fine oratorial talent will make him the spokesman of the middle west which, this election showed, is the backbone of the Republican party and of the principles of sturdy Americanism in which it believes. He will give Illinois the first adequate representation in the senate which it has enjoyed in a decade. He will be a senator of whom his state can be proud.

THE GOVERNOR ELECT.

Dwight Green, the Republican governor elect of Illinois, was interviewed on the day after election. What he said about the government of the state shows that he knows what needs to be done as soon as he takes office. The manner in which he said it shows that he means business.

He put economy first. He believes—and the people of this state agree with him—that we have been spending too much money for too little. The pay rolls are loaded with political deadwood; men and women are drawing salaries who give little or nothing in return. The abuse grew to fantastic proportions in the years in which Gov. Horner was unable to restrain his following. Mr. Green will see that the taxpayers get their money's worth in service from those he appoints. There is no doubt that he can greatly improve the quality of government in this state while reducing the cost of the pay roll.

Mr. Green mentioned particularly the state's charitable institutions. He has noted that the number of employés working in them has increased more rapidly than the number of inmates. The shocking evidences of mismanagement at Manteno prove that the state has been paying heavily in lives as well as money for the régime it has been maintaining in Springfield. The people of Illinois are confident that Mr. Green will remedy this situation as rapidly as the necessary changes can be made.

Mr. Green believes that taxes can and should be reduced. His first objective is to lower the costs of state government sufficiently to justify removing the sales tax on food. The tax as it is now imposed is almost universally condemned. It falls with crushing weight on the poor and if it is at all possible to do so it ought to be amended along the lines which Mr. Green suggests.

An opportunity is presented to the governor elect and it is gratifying to find that he is aware of it. He can give Illinois what it has not had in years: decent, clean, economical, serviceable government. The Republican party has reason to be proud of its young governors, men like Stassen in Minnesota and Carr in Colorado, to name but two of them. They have done much to revive the party and Mr. Green can do more, for Illinois is far larger and far more closely observed by the nation.

THE MIDDLE WEST LEADS.

The Republican party came into being in the middle west and its revival in the middle west is now unmistakably in full swing. The final return from Michigan, showing that the state had gone for Willkie, was not needed to establish the fact. It was apparent in the elections of governors, senators, and congressmen.

Illinois elected a Republican governor and a Republican senator and added 6 Republican congressmen to its delegation. It also elected a majority of both houses of its legislature. And it elected its state ticket with one exception. Ohio chose a Republican governor and a Republican senator. Indiana added a Republican senator and a Republican congressman. Iowa reëlected its Republican governor, picked up three state elective posts and two state Supreme court judges while maintaining its majority of both houses of its legislature. Wisconsin reëlected its Republican governor. Missouri's governor is a Republican and two Republicans have been added to that state's congressional strength. Minnesota reelected a Republican governor and increased its Republican strength in the house by one. Nebraska did better, by taking the governorship and the senate seat from the Democrats. Colorado reëlected its Republican governor and sent two new Republicans to congress.

Brooks, a Republican noninterventionist from Illinois, will take a seat in the senate. Vandenberg, a Republican noninterventionist from Michigan, returns to the senate. Shipstead, another noninterventionist, will speak for Minnesota. Another, La Follette, goes back to the senate. We have found ourselves frequently in disagreement with him but seldom on questions of foreign policy. These men and the new recruits, Willis of Indiana, Burton of Ohio, and Butler of Nebraska, will provide a quality of leadership which has been long lacking.

The middle west is again in the van. The people in this section of the country have been the first to awaken to the danger of foreign war. The obligation rests upon us and upon the men we have chosen to govern us and to legislate for us to carry the banner of Republicanism east and west to the seacoasts.

The fight against internationalism, communism, and collectivism has only begun. Two years from now a whole new house of representatives and a third of the senate will be chosen. It is to that day that the people of this country can look forward with hope and confidence. The gains already made are a promise of greater ones to come.

Editorial of the Day

DOES NOT DECEIVE ENEMY.

[Boone (Iowa) News-Republican.]

Col. R. R. McCormick, editor of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, declared in a recent broadcast that the real danger of war censorship is that while it deceives the people of the nation where the news is censored, it does not deceive the enemy. He cites the fall of France as an example.

Before and during the German invasion last spring there was a rigid censorship in France. The people were completely deluded about the strength of their army and their fortifications. The French also were kept in the dark about the formidable German war machine. Yet Hitler knew France's weakness. The result was the complete rout of the French armies, the occupation of France and its ruin as a free democratic nation.

Had the people of France known the danger in which they stood, the end might have been different. Contrast France with Britain, for instance. In England the people are fully aware of how they stand. They are kept informed by the government as to their strength and weakness. They know why they are fighting, whom they must fight and what lines that fight most probably will follow.

Col. McCormick in his talk referred to a letter he had received from Gen. James G. Harbord, chief of staff of the A. E. F. in 1917. Gen. Harbord wrote that the army heads urged newspaper correspondents to give all information to their readers. Furthermore, if the correspondents saw anything to criticize in the way our forces abroad were being handled, they were told by Gen. Harbord to go ahead and criticize freely. The American public was entitled to know what was going on, according to the A. E. F. staff officers.

The newspapers of this country should be free to look into and to criticize what is going on with regard to our present war defense preparations. If the burocrats had their way, there would be nothing printed about the deplorable state of affairs in defense preparations.

Suppressing facts weakens our own progress. It is more healthy to have the people know exactly how matters stand. Any attempted censorship in this country becomes known to our potential enemy and he knows, as well, the state of our war supplies. This adds to our weakness.

Col. McCormick is a champion of the freedom of the press. He has never pointed out anywhere more distinctly the need of public knowledge and congressional knowledge of the actual facts of our defense preparations. Suppressing the news about airplane production in the United States, for instance, helps nobody and hurts our cause. Censorship is intended to deceive the enemy but it never does. The people themselves should demand that they are not kept in ignorance of events, but that the press should have the facts and print them.

SPEAKING OF PRESIDENTS.

Can an Indian become President of the United States?

Yes. In 1924 congress passed an act making all Indians citizens. A son of such an act of congress citizen would be a natural born citizen, and therefore eligible, especially if he had a smooth, ingratiating radio voice.

Did President Wilson ever make any public utterance to justify the satirical echo from his administration, "He kept us out of war"?

Yes, at Cleveland on Jan. 29, 1916. The platform adopted by the Democratic convention that nominated him for a second term contained these exact words.

Can a President be placed under arrest?

In theory, no, not even for murder. In practice, it has happened twice. President Pierce, on horseback, accidentally ran down an old woman in Washington in 1853. A constable placed him under arrest. He said, "I am the President," and was released. . . . President Grant was arrested in Washington for fast driving. His buggy was kicking up so much dust that a Negro policeman failed to recognize him. This officer grabbed the horse's bridle, and was dragged for half a block before he got his man. He apologized when he recognized the President, but Grant said, "Officer, do your duty," and walked to the police station with him. He was not booked.

Who was the first motorist in the White House?

Harding was the first President who could drive a car. Taft was the first to make regular use of an automobile. Theodore Roosevelt had a secret service car at his disposal, but didn't like it.

TO CAPTAIN WILLKIE.

Grieve not, courageous fighting man,
'Twas but the opening gun;
This skirmish was not final,
The battle's just begun!

Their legions are too well intrenched,
Our forces undermanned;
But, captain, you're the bridgehead
Where our vanguard holds some land.

Dig in against the coming night!
'Tis here we'll make our stand
While time and disillusion
Bring fresh troops to our band.

Time will add luster to your cause.
Buck up, you troops that fear;
But, just the same, please look away . . .
I think I've shed a tear.

Buck Private.

Chicago's First College Football.

On Oct. 22, 1892, Chicago saw its first intercollegiate football game. Three hundred students, several of them young women from the two institutions, gathered at the old White Sox ball park [39th street and Wentworth avenue] to see "Capt. Stagg's men" from the University of Chicago play the Methodists from Northwestern.

The now venerable Amos Alonzo tripled in brass as Chicago's coach, captain, and quarter back. The score: Northwestern, 0; Chicago, 0. The gate receipts, $45.30. Harry G. Mitchell.

Another "Great Stone Urn."

Near the north drive in Washington park, not far from Cottage Grove avenue, is a relic of the Chicago fire. It was placed there by my father, James P. Root, who was attorney for the south parks board. The land there was purchased for park purposes largely thru his efforts.

This relic was unmarked until last spring, and few people knew what it was. It now bears a marker reading:

"Part of finial, second courthouse, destroyed by fire of 1871. Placed by James P. Root."

Directly across the drive is a large boulder which marks the place where Gen. Grant planted a tree in 1879. Leonora Root Wilson.

["Finial" is the architectural term for the "great stone urns" which have been discussed in this column. A number of them survive at various places in and around Chicago.]

Speaking of Ancestors.

Every one claims two parents, four grandparents, eight great-grandparents, and sixteen great-great-grandparents. Assuming 25 years to a generation, that goes back 100 years. Figure 200 years more and you find 4,096 ancestors, not so many. Go back another 200 years, 500 in all, and the computation shows 1,048,576 forebears, quite a lot. That would have been in 1440.

Back another 300 years to A. D. 1140 and the figure shows 2,147,483,648. That's as far as I went. That figure of 2 billion odd intrigued me. There are about that many leaves on the lawn, constituting a more pressing problem. Warren Estey.

A BOOK OF ANONYMOUS POEMS.

I think I understand in some small part
The message that to these old books belongs,
Why we can seldom name the long stilled heart
That speaks to us in each of these sweet songs;
These singers somehow felt, instinctively,
Their words meant far too much to bear one name,
And gladly paid, thru anonymity,
The price that gives their songs an endless fame.
If I should ever strike a chord to tell
In simple words all that life holds for me,
And if I know my song has been sung well
Because men treasure that one melody
Their praise would sound the fairest in its tone
If it were merely said, "Author unknown."

We are gazing, as we write, at a 1940 calendar which has Nov. 28 marked in red as Thanksgiving day. Meddlers with tradition, however, have moved it back to Nov. 21. As the editor of the Line Book of 1940, which traditionally appears the day after the Thanksgiving day, we regard Nov. 28 as the correct date, and so proclaim it.

RESTRICT SALT WHEN TISSUES ARE WATERLOGGED.

DROPSY, according to Thomas Sydenham—a 17th century English medical worthy—attacks almost every one at some time or other. Men and women are afflicted more frequently with advancing years and an early sign is swelling of the ankles, which is more evident at nightfall. In the morning, the tissues may be normal. In other words, during slumber the accumulated water is redistributed by the circulation to other portions of the body.

Since the time of William Withering—who first employed digitalis to relieve dropsy—more and more information has been gleaned concerning the condition. We realize that disability on the part of the kidneys or the pumping organ may interfere with the fluid adjustment and thus lead to puffy extremities.

The first step is to locate the cause. With better knowledge of the duties of both the heart and the renal apparatus we can determine which structure is misbehaving or failing to do its job. Appropriate treatment may then be applied to the difficulty itself instead of resorting to violent purging, as was the custom in grandfather's time.

We may with reason ask ourselves why water will escape from the blood and fill the spaces between the cells? There are many factors, such as the pressure level, the ease with which fluid passes thru the capillary walls, the concentration of salts, and the amount of protein in the circulation.

Most important of all perhaps is the quantity of sodium chloride [common salt] within the body. It isn't the chlorine but the sodium fraction of the chemical that counts. Substituting potassium or ammonium chloride for the ordinary table preparation will lessen the tendency toward edema. On the other hand, taking more sodium will accelerate the disorder. In Bright's disease—wherein the kidneys have been damaged—their efficacy in excreting minerals is reduced. This leads to retention of salts and hence their power to hold more liquid.

It was Richard Bright, however, who—more than 100 years ago—pointed out that if the arteries do not contain enough protein [too little meat in the diet], the tissues will become waterlogged. Then it is that—like a flat wheel on a railway car—smooth running is impossible.

We can understand that should the heart fail to do its job, something may happen to the return flow resulting in congestion of the venous [used] vital fluid. In such cases, rest, plus digitalis—allowing the pump to recover its aforetime energy—are indicated. This, in addition to some restriction in the salt intake—even deprivation for a few days—may solve the problem. There is no special advantage in prohibiting the drinking of beverages altho the total may be confined temporarily to 50 ounces in each 24 hours.

Should the kidneys be involved, physicians know of certain forms of mercury which will promote excretion. Once the balance has been reestablished, it is easier to correct other factors—for example, anemia—so that comfort may be assured.

One thing we have learned—namely, that sweating [Turkish baths], purging, or irrigation of the colon possess little value. In fact, they may do much harm. The object, of course, is to restore and to save the functioning skill of the kidneys and to maintain the heart muscle at par. We can help both by limiting all condiments. Removing the salt shaker from the kitchen as well as the table may be beneficial.

DIZZINESS.

Miss T. W. writes: Lately I have been getting extreme dizzy spells almost causing me to lose my balance. I have been to the eye doctor and wear the glasses he prescribed, but I still have the attacks.

REPLY.

There are many causes of dizziness, such as hardening of the arteries, some swelling in the inner ear, disease of the balancing apparatus, too much fluid in the system, out of balance of the eye muscles, etc. Make certain that elimination is good and that you are not holding water in the tissues.

OATS FOR WIFE.

J. N. writes: My wife has the habit of eating lots of raw oatmeal. Is this harmful?

REPLY.

Not if the gastric apparatus can stand it. I prefer mine cooked—and in a double boiler, at that.

WARNS OF STRADDLING.

Western Springs, Ill., Nov. 6.—Republicans lost on the "Me Too" policy of aid to England, which is really intervention in European power politics. This is likely to take American boys into offensive warfare.

True American leadership would have buried the "third term" candidate. Beware of straddling. Come back in 1942 and build up a congress that will restore nonintervention in Europe's power politics. BURTON W. RHOADS.

WIVES AND THE DRAFTEES.

Chicago, Nov. 6.—Could some one enlighten me as to the draft situation? I hear married men whose wives are employed will not be exempt, yet the men whose wives are not employed will be to a certain extent. Now if a man is earning $50 a week and is the sole support, he will be exempt as his wife is dependent. If another man earns $30 a week and his wife must work and she receives $20, their combined salary totals $50, the amount the other man earns alone, yet this man will not be exempt. I don't know of any employed married women who would not rather stay at home and be on their own time than to have to report every day and it isn't fair that their men should go while the others who have enjoyed a good salary can remain home and continue to enjoy it.

I'm for the married men to stay home and keep the fires going. Many homes will, no doubt, be broken up due to the drafting of married men. If they must take married men, let them take all of them, wives dependent or not. Let their wives go out and do a day's work instead of riding around in cars and attending bridge parties in the afternoons.

WONDERING WIFE.

A SPURIOUS SOLICITOR.

Chicago, Nov. 6.—Complaints have been received by this office with reference to a man wearing either a Legion cap or an overseas cap, who is soliciting chances on a radio in office buildings or commercial concerns, and claiming that the money is given to the disabled veterans at Hines hospital.

I wish to state that the government and the hospital do not sanction any such appeals, and it has long been the policy of the American Legion to discourage such things.

If approached by this man with a similar solicitation, or by any other individual with the same type of a story, it would be appreciated if you would contact this office for whatever information we may be able to give. L. R. BENSTON,
Department Service Officer,

ADVICE TO CANDIDATES.

Chicago, Nov. 6.—On behalf of myself and other Roosevelt Democrats I wish to thank you for your vociferous support of Wendell L. Willkie. It was a large factor in swinging the vote of honest people to President Roosevelt.

My advice to future candidates is: Get the support of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. Their unscrupulous innuendoes and distorting of the facts will most certainly lose you your election. MISS B. J.

IN A SPIRIT OF IRONY.

Chicago, Nov. 6.—Now that the nation has so emphatically indorsed President Roosevelt's policies, including his laudable aid to England, why should we waste any more time in actively carrying on the noble cause of the British empire?

If the United States were in danger from some foreign aggressor, do you think England would stall and stand idly by while we were being destroyed? No! Of course not. Time and time again in our nation's history, England has come to the aid of our way of living—even at the cost of British blood.

We should not hesitate any longer. Time is fleeting, and with it the cause of world democracy. No sacrifices that we can make—our lives, our homes, our wives and families—are too much to offer for this sacred cause. Let's get behind President Roosevelt and wipe out the curse of the dictators.

Insincerely, FRANK T. QUINN.

FOR A CITIZENS' LEAGUE.

Glen Ellyn, Ill., Nov. 6.—Why not start the organization of a National Citizens' Protective league to protect America:

1. Against dictatorship.
2. Keep our men from being loaded on the waiting transports.
3. Hold down national debt.
4. Prevent inflation.

There is power in organization. Yesterday's election proved that. Why not an organization to uphold American principles? Yours for democracy.

FLORENCE WAGNER.

PALES THE NOONDAY SUN.

Chicago, Nov. 6.—It requires no great acumen to deduce that it is a real asset for any worthy cause to be opposed by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, as witness 1932, 1936, and 1940 elections. Your sheet is so yellow the noonday sun seems pale in comparison. MRS. R. A. U.

PURCHASE OF HOME.

Chicago, Oct. 24.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I intend in the near future to purchase my mother's home and I will appreciate very much any information you may give me pertaining to the following situation. She bought this home about three years ago, paying for it in cash and receiving a guaranty policy for $3,000.

1. The only outstanding taxes mentioned in her policy as not paid have since been paid. There is nothing else in her policy which, in so far as I know, would bar her from a clear title. All taxes since then have been paid and there are no liens on her property. Now, as I previously stated, I intend to purchase her home and I have been advised by a real estate agent whom we consulted that in view of the above factor [2] it would not be necessary for me to have a guaranty policy in my name. I wish you would give me the following information:

3. Do you have the same opinion as this real estate agent?

4. If I should wish to sell this property in the future would I have more difficulty or expense if I did not have a policy in my name than if I did?

5. What would be the approximate charge for a policy in my name?

6. Who would pay this charge, my mother or myself?

7. What would be the approximate charge for a policy in the supposed second purchaser's name if I should wish to sell in the future?

8. Who would pay for this charge, myself or the supposed second purchaser? Do you advise me to get a policy in my name or will my mother's policy be sufficient protection? L. V.

1. Since additional taxes come due each year the guarantee policy cannot be regarded as an adequate source of information as to taxes subsequent to its date.

2. The guarantee policy is something like a fire insurance policy except that it insures against title defects instead of against fire damage. If in future a title defect should develop and you were not named as beneficiary in the policy this would be disadvantageous. If, however, you are absolutely certain that there are no defects then we see no objection to the course suggested.

3. See 2.

4. No, the outside purchaser would insist on the policy being brought down to date at that time.

5. You can get an estimate from the title company.

6. The grantor ordinarily pays the cost of showing a clear title in his own name and the grantee pays any additional costs.

7. See 5.

ROOSEVELT RIDES THRU CAPITAL AS CONQUERING HERO

New Deal Thousands Hail Their Returning Chief.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 7.—Hailed as a conquering hero by thousands of cheering New Dealers, President Roosevelt today returned in triumph for another four years in the White House. He came from his mother's home at Hyde Park, N. Y.

As a dress rehearsal for the inauguration parade on Jan. 20, the President, accompanied by his running mate, Vice President Elect Henry A Wallace, and their wives, drove down Pennsylvania avenue, which has seen Presidents come and go but never before a third term President.

School Children Get Holiday.

A crowd of more than 200,000, consisting mostly of government employés allowed a part holiday and school children given blanket approval to be tardy today provided they attended the reception arranged by the District of Columbia commissioners, lined the route of the parade from the Union station to the White House. The army, navy, and marine bands provided festive music, playing "Happy Days Are Here Again" and other campaign tunes.

Seated in an open car, Mr. Roosevelt addressed the throngs at the station plaza, expressing pleasure upon his return to Washington, where he said he would rather live than any other city in the world.

The crowd roared its approval and the procession moved on toward the White House, where thousands more, admitted to the White House grounds for the fir ' time in months, awaited the President's arrival. The President's car passed thru ranks of White House policemen at attention. The White House staff stood along the wall of the executive mansion and cheered as Mr. Roosevelt left his car. In response to continuous clamor for him the President twice appeared and waved after he entered the White House.

Greeted by Cabinet Members.

At the station he was greeted in his private car by Wallace, Secretary of State Cordell Hull, Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson, Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr., Attorney General Robert H. Jackson, Secretary of Agriculture Claude Wickard, and other officials.

Joseph P. Kennedy, United States ambassador to England, called on Mr. Roosevelt briefly to extend congratulations, and he also conferred with Morgenthau and the national defense advisory commission.

The commission met with the President for two hours and 15 minutes and immediately afterward the priorities board was summoned into session to consider the President's request that Great Britain be given priority for 12,000 war planes.

Plane Request on Docket.

William S. Knudsen said that the priorities board had on its docket Mr. Roosevelt's request for more planes to Great Britain.

Disclosure that the priorities board would meet immediately after the defense session with the President gave rise to speculation that this matter had been threshed out in the unusually long meeting and that the President had presented his case to the commission.

It was announced that the President will speak twice on Armistice day, Nov. 11—at Arlington National cemetery exercises in the morning and at the laying of the cornerstone for the new navy medical center at Bethesda, Md., in the afternoon.

DEPUTY LOSES MAN AND GUN IN SERVING $900 ALIMONY ORDER

Deputy Sheriff Harry Blue lost his man and his gun last night when he called upon Joseph Greco in Greco's grocery at 3507 Chicago avenue. Blue had a court order to arrest Greco on the complaint that he was $900 in arrears in alimony to his ex-wife, Eva.

Greco and his present wife, Lillian, ordered Blue out of the store. In a scuffle the deputy's revolver was discharged accidentally. Greco finally managed to grab the revolver from Blue, who fled. Blue returned later with a police squad, but Greco had disappeared. Police locked up his wife and her son by a former marriage, Raymond, on charges of assault.

FAIL TO CONNECT MRS. FREED WITH VALLETTE KILLING

Ballistics tests showed yesterday that bullets that wounded Edward Freed, former Chicago night club proprietor, at Peoria early Sunday were not fired from the same gun as those that killed Audrey Vallette, night life figure, on July 2, 1936.

Freed was wounded by his wife, Carmelia Ruth, when she found him in a Peoria night club dining with a strip tease dancer.

Mrs. Freed was charged in 1936 with the Vallette murder after her husband admitted having been friendly with the slain girl. Witnesses, however, were unable to identify Mrs. Freed as the woman who had fled from Miss Vallette's near north side apartment immediately after the shooting.

CUT PERSONALTY VALUATION 3 PCT. OUTSIDE CHICAGO

Stock of Outstate Firms Taken Off Rolls.

Personal property assessments for 1940 for the 30 Cook county townships outside of Chicago were cut 3 per cent below the 1939 value to $72,618,304, County Assessor John S. Clark announced yesterday. The assessed value for the 30 townships last year was $74,765,323, compared with $60,930,000 in 1938 and $84,858,000 in 1937.

Clark said the reduction resulted from the exemption of securities formerly assessed at about $4,000,000 in the 30 townships. The securities, consisting of stock in companies incorporated outside Illinois but owning tangible property in the state, were exempted from taxation by a state Supreme court decision last March.

Decreases Partly Offset.

Part of this loss in assessed values was offset by increases in assessments of other types of personal property, Clark explained. These chiefly affected corporations and unincorporated businesses whose earnings were higher in 1940, Clark said.

Of the 30 townships, assessments were higher in 20 and lower in 10, as compared with 1939 assessed values.

The largest reduction was in New Trier township, where assessments were slashed 27 per cent from $11,200,874 to $8,141,552. The township includes a number of north shore suburbs.

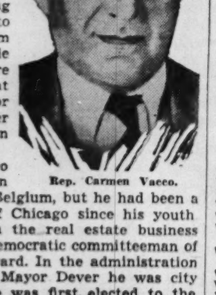
CARMEN VACCO, RE-ELECTED TO ASSEMBLY, DIES



Rep. Carmen Vacco.

Carmen Vacco, 55 years old, who was reëlected state representative in the 17th district on Tuesday, died yesterday of heart disease in his home at 1305 Harrison street. Unavailing efforts to revive him were made by a fire department inhalator squad after he had been stricken.

Mr. Vacco was born in Brussels, Belgium, but he had been a resident of Chicago since his youth. He was in the real estate business and was Democratic committeeman of the 20th ward. In the administration of former Mayor Dever he was city sealer. He was first elected to the house of representatives in 1936.

STORES SELLING ONE-FOURTH OF MILK IN PAPER

Cartons Prove Popular in First Two Weeks.

More than a fourth of the 700,000 to 800,000 quarts of milk sold in Chicago retail stores each day goes out in paper containers, according to estimates by dairy executives and union officials yesterday.

Sale of milk in cartons began two weeks ago when Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward enjoined the city from interfering. The city's appeal for a writ of supersedeas is pending before the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

Meanwhile the Fieldcrest Dairies, Inc., which obtained the injunction, will continue to place cartoned milk in retail stores, as will the city's major dairies which began using paper containers to meet the competition of Fieldcrest.

Dairy's Sales Double.

Fieldcrest's sales have doubled since the injunction permitted it to invade the city proper, according to Sam Dean Jr., president. Previously the dairy had sold cartoned milk only in the suburbs. When all the dairies have been equipped with the necessary machinery, half of the city's milk distribution will be in paper containers, it was estimated.

A survey yesterday indicated that the public is taking to the cartons. Food and delicatessen store owners said the demand had surprised them. Several said that half their milk output is in cartons.

One operated asserted that some of his customers insist upon glass bottles so that they may see the cream, but that most are glad to be relieved of bottles and to avoid paying a penny deposit on them.

Causes Labor Threat.

The first rumble of union trouble since Judge Woodward's decision came yesterday when Henry Weber, president of the Milk Wagon Drivers' union, served notice on the Borden-Wieland dairy that a strike will be called at its plant unless it stops cartoning milk for the Meadowmoor Dairies, Inc., 1334 South Peoria street. Weber said he acted because Meadowmoor does not employ union men.

Walter Schaub, vice president of Meadowmoor, said the arrangement is to last only until his own machinery can be installed. He said he knew nothing of the ultimatum issued to Borden-Wieland.

PAUL M. MACKLIN, HIS SON, FRIEND DROWNED IN LAKE

Worcester, Mass., Nov. 7 (AP).—The drowning of Paul M. Macklin of New York, vice president and general manager of the Wickwire Spencer Steel corporation, his son and a fellow corporation official while on a hunting trip in Maine was reported here tonight.

Irving B. Barrows, of Worcester, a member of the hunting party, informed Mayor William A. Bennett by telephone that Macklin, George W. Nelson, superintendent of the Buffalo, N. Y., plant of the corporation, and Macklin's son, John, a foreman at the same plant, were lost from a canoe yesterday in frozen Ocean lake, about 80 miles north of Greenville.

FILM AND STAGE SHOW NOTABLES SCORE ON W-G-N

Sprightly music and comedy and a touching play, "The Last Orchid," featuring Tom Brown and Arleen Whelan, two young Hollywood favorites, headlined In Chicago Tonight over W-G-N and Mutual network radio stations last evening.

The melody and comedy were provided by young performers from the cast of "Meet the People," musical revue on view in the loop. They were playing a return engagement on W-G-N in response to many requests.

After the broadcast Producer William A. Bacher, Harold Stokes, members of the W-G-N orchestra and chorus, and the radio actors visited the Grand Opera house to see the stage production.

The studio audience cheered Bernice Parks in the torchy rhumba, "Say Si Si"; Sue Robin and Jack Boyle in a tender lilting love song, "A Fellow and a Girl," and Marion Colby's hot singing of the same number. They also applauded the musical satire, "Let's Steal a Tune from Offenbach."

Brown and Miss Whelan were particularly effective in the drama. Barney Phillips of "Meet the People" also had a part in it. Its story involved the holdup of a florist's shop by a young man who wanted his wife to have an orchid on their first wedding anniversary—an orchid that was to be sent to the Haven of Rest mortuary! Besides acting in this drama, the two Hollywood players introduced the musical and specialty numbers.

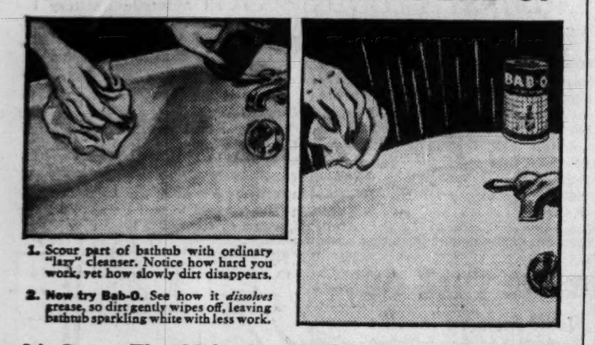
SIMPLE PROOF

Ordinary "Sluggish" Cleansers Don't Dissolve Grease Like BAB-O!



1. Scour part of bathtub with ordinary "lazy" cleanser. Notice how hard you work, yet how slowly dirt disappears.

2. Now try Bab-O. See how it dissolves grease, so dirt gently wipes off, leaving bathtub sparkling white with less work.

It's Grease That Makes Dirt Stick To Pots, Pans, Stoves, Sinks, Bathtubs. Your Own Eyes Can Verify (Above) How Grease-Dissolving Bab-O Acts Faster—Saves Time, Work!

● You may think it's dirt that causes so much needless cleaning, so much hard work. But this is no longer so. Today's big cleaning problem is the grease that makes dirt stick—not only to pots and pans but stoves, sinks, bathtubs, refrigerators—thus causing 90% of the scouring and scrubbing you do.

With ordinary, "sluggish" cleansers you have to scour and scrub needlessly to get rid of this greasy binder. But Bab-O, perfected especially to meet this problem, works on an entirely different principle. Bab-O contains an active special ingredient that quickly dissolves grease so dirt easily wipes off. And because Bab-O works so much faster and more effectively, a little does more cleaning. So you can use less of it—you save not only time and work but money too. Get Bab-O today.

NOTE: Bab-O is white—stays white even when wet—because it contains only pure cleaning ingredients.

ACORN SQUASHES ARE DELICIOUS; JUST THE THING FOR FALL DAY

DOUBLE STUFFED ACORN SQUASH.

[Serves 4.]

4 medium corn squash
4 medium apples
¾ pound pork sausage

Wash squash and cut off pointed blossom end. Remove seeds. Peel apples and trim each to fit into cavity of a squash. Core and hollow out apples, leaving a rather thick shell. Place in squash and fill center of apple with sausage. Place in moderate [350 degrees] oven and bake until squash is tender and sausage is done, about 45 minutes to an hour.

SQUASH STUFFED WITH HONEYED CHESTNUTS.

[Serves 6.]

6 small acorn squash
2 or 3 cups boiled and peeled chestnuts
⅓ cup honey
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
Melted butter

Cut squash in halves and remove seeds. Boil with skins on in salted water to cover for 15 minutes. Plunge in cold water and pull off skins. Meanwhile, prepare unshelled chestnuts by brushing with butter and roasting 20 minutes in hot [450 degrees] oven, then shelling and peeling with sharp knife and boiling in salted water to cover for 10 or 20 minutes or until just tender. Chop nutmeats and mix with just enough nutmeg seasoned honey to hold bits together. Pile these into cavity of squash and bake in covered dish containing a very little water for about 35 minutes, or until tender. Use a hot [400 degrees] oven.

Spiced Acorn Squash.

Cut squash in halves and remove seeds, brush generously with butter and dust very lightly with cinnamon and nutmeg mixed with a very little sugar. Bake in a hot [400 degrees] oven until done, 45 to 60 minutes.

Pecan Pie Is Southern Delicacy You'll Enjoy

This rich, golden pecan pie is an old stand-by with southern cooks, and it's sure to be a favorite with sweet-toothed families and guests.

SOUTHERN PECAN PIE.

1 cup corn sirup
½ cup sugar
¼ cup melted butter
3 eggs
1 cup pecan halves

Combine the corn sirup, sugar, melted butter, and slightly beaten eggs. Add the pecans and pour into an unbaked pie shell. Bake at 425 degrees for 10 minutes, then lower oven heat to 350 degrees and bake for 45 to 55 minutes longer, or until the filling is firm. Serve warm or cold.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

For Sunday: Ham Decked with Cherries.

BY MARY MEADE.

Veal is still absent from among the meat counter bargains. But you may have almost anything else you want at a reasonable price. Pork is the most bargainish bargain.

Pork loin roast, pork chops, pork sausage, bacon and ham all are good buys. You'll find ready cooked picnic hams done up in cherries and brown sugar for Sunday night's supper. All you'll need to do is slice the meat.

If you've an appetite for beef, try a chuck roast, swiss or round steak. Even sirloin is reasonably priced this week-end.

The lamb buys include leg of lamb, lamb shoulder roast [this is a very good investment], rib and loin chops.

Buy Plenty of Duck.

Long Island duck and stewing chickens are the best poultry bargains. Remember, in buying ducks, to allow 1½ pounds per person, dressed weight, or you may run short. There isn't as much meat in proportion to bone on a duck as there is on a chicken or turkey, and of course, there's a good deal of fat.

Chicken stew with dumplings, fricasseed chicken, chicken baked in cream, chicken Italian style—these are a few of the good dishes which may be made from stewing chickens.

Many fruits and vegetables are showing an uptrend on the wholesale market. Potatoes are a little higher, green beans, carrots, celery, peas, good quality tomatoes cost a little more this week. Michigan grapes are up because it is the end of their season, but California and other western grapes are plentiful and reasonably priced.

Autumn Rhubarb Is In.

California is sending up fall rhubarb which is selling reasonably, and asparagus, which isn't exactly bargain priced, but which, on the other hand, isn't too costly considering the season.

Green beans, even tho higher than last week, still are among the best vegetable buys. Cauliflower, Brussels sprouts, all kinds of fall and winter squash, oranges, apples and grapefruit are inexpensive. Grapefruit is improving in quality.

There are specials in many groceries this week-end on celery, apples, North Dakota red potatoes, Florida oranges, iceberg lettuce, and grapefruit.

Eggs, bacon, shortening, coffee, flour, vanilla wafers, soaps, and several kinds of jelly also are specialed widely. Among canned goods bargains in tomatoes, corn, green beans, and peas are to be found. Mincemeat, holiday pudding, and pumpkin are featured pretty generally, too.

For a Fruit Platter.

For the fruit platter centerpiece, don't overlook pomegranates, Bartlett pears, figs, bananas, grapes, apples, and persimmons. If you want to make it a vegetable centerpiece you'll find beautiful, bright, small squashes, which with nuts in the shell, will look very pretty.

Last week I found a prefectly formed orange colored scalloped squash which was so handsome to look at that I hadn't the heart to cook it. In an arrangement with several small green gourds and a bright pomegranate, fringed by a few autumn leaves, it was gorgeous.

Veal Should Be Cooked Slowly for Best Flavor

In preparing any veal dish, cook it slowly for best results. A veal roast should never be seared, but roasted at a constant low temperature of 300 degrees. Steaks and chops should be braised slowly in a covered pan. Pour a little sour cream over the steaks or chops during cooking, to produce a delicious flavor.

Curried Orange Slices Garnish Broiled Lamb

Curried orange slices make an attractive and tasty garnish for broiled lamb chops. Peel the oranges, cut in one inch slices. Dot with butter, brown sugar and a dash of curry powder. Place in broiler with the lamb chops, and cook until lightly browned, about 5 minutes.

[Copyright, 1940, By Ely Culbertson.]

LAST FRIDAY'S QUESTION.

Question 39: East-West vulnerable. The bidding proceeds:

East	South	West	North
1 spade	?

You are South, and hold:

♠ K Q 9 7 ♥ A J ♦ K 4 3 ♣ Q 10 8 3

What call do you make?

Answer: Pass. This, of course, is a "trap" pass. The vulnerability conditions make this a highly desirable action, but even under all other conditions of vulnerability, the pass still would be the best call. You have excellent defense against spades, but not enough outside strength to force a bid from partner by means of a takeout double. Nor has a no trump bid by you anything to recommend it. Your greatest opportunity, by far, is to lay back and wait for the opponents to hang themselves [30 points demerit for one no trump, double, or two clubs; 50 points demerit for any higher bid].

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question 40: You are West, declarer, at an optimistic six heart contract. [The opponents made no bid.] Your hand and dummy are as follows:

WEST [Declarer]	EAST [Dummy]
♠ Q J	♠ K 10
♥ A 10 8 7 6 2	♥ Q 5 3
♦ A J 10	♦ K Q 9 7
♣ A 8	♣ K Q J 10

North opens the spade ace, then shifts to a low club. What is your one chance to avoid the loss of a trump trick and fulfill your contract? In other words, how do you play the trump suit? [The defenders are experts.]

And this winds up the 1940 examination. Answers to this week's questions will, of course, appear next week and, after that, I shall reanalyze, in greater detail, those questions which proved unusually baffling or controversial to the examinees.

Today's Hand

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

♥ A 7 4
♦ 9 7 6 3
♣ K 6 5 2

WEST
♠ J 4
♦ A K Q J
♣ J 9 8 7 4

EAST
♠ 10 7 6 2
♥ 10 8 6 5 2

SOUTH
♥ K Q J
♦ 10 5 2
♣ A 3

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	Pass	1 no trump	Pass
3 spades	Pass	3 no trump	Pass
4 spades	Pass	Pass	Pass

South should have passed to his partner's three no trump bid, but if he had, it is very doubtful that the game would have been stolen, as it was in four spades.

West opened the king of diamonds and followed with three more rounds, declarer ruffing the fourth.

Declarer's first play on taking the lead was to lay down the ace of trumps. West false carded with the jack, for what reason I am unable to report.

Now an expert player in South's seat would realize that if West really had only one trump, East would be marked with five, and that nothing could rob him of a trump trick. But this declarer was incapable of "so much thought." His knowledge had reached only the stage of finesses, of which he was greatly enamored. Instead of now playing the king of trumps on the legitimate hope that West was false carding with the J-10 blank, declarer crossed to dummy's ace of hearts and finessed against the ten in East's hand. The finesse winning, trumps were drawn and the rest of the tricks were claimed.

West knew enough to blush painfully. The declarer simply felt well pleased with himself for his "cleverness." And poor East had to be content with a vitriolic glare at his false carding partner.

Ballet Theater in New Work Rouses Cheers

BY CECIL SMITH.

In the second all-ballet program at the Civic Opera house last evening the Ballet theater gave the first Chicago performance of "Jardin aux Lilas," choreographed by Antony Tudor to the music of Chausson's "Poème" for violin and orchestra. Except for the dances in last Saturday evening's "Aïda" performance, this was Chicago's first glimpse of the gifted young British dancer's creative work. The new composition was preceded by "Capriccioso," which received its world première here last Sunday. The program ended with "Voices of Spring," a work danced here two years ago by the Mordkin ballet.

The originality and emotional power of "Jardin aux Lilas" made a strong impression on the audience, and elicited cries of "bravo" at the close. Unfolding in a dimly lighted, lilac-laden garden, the ballet is hung upon what the program described as a "Maupassantlike plot." The action consists of a series of interrupted meetings between the heroine and her lover, which take place in the course of a party celebrating the heroine's impending marriage of convenience to another man.

This highly romantic plot is insignificant enough, but the arresting and eloquent movement devised by Mr. Tudor is far from insignificant. It is greatly stylized and individualized dancing, in which traditional ballet steps are interestingly fused with broad, sweeping, stiff legged and stiff armed turns and elevations that are outwardly somewhat akin to those used by the Jooss ballet, and even by Doris Humphrey.

The chief weakness of "Jardin aux Lilas" is one of formal construction. There is not really enough material to fill out the entire Chausson score. The plot and the music reach an emotional peak together, but the acutal dancing is too episodically presented and too much on a single level of intensity to share in the climax.

Hugh Laing, in his first Chicago appearance, danced the rôle of the lover with brilliance and romantic bearing. Annabelle Lyon, Karen Conrad, and Mr. Tudor were also excellent both individually and as an ensemble.

At its second performance "Capriccioso," choreographed by Anton Dolin, despite its delightful Cimarosa music and its colorful costumes and décor by Nicolas de Molas, seemed rather pale.

The evening, except for "Jardin aux Lilas," ran too exclusively to light divertissements. In "Voices of Spring" [Mikhail Mordkin's choreography] the soloists and corps de ballet danced superlatively well.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

One hundred twenty-five official leaders of the five Methodist conferences of Illinois are attending a school of methods and program of the recently united Methodist church, which opened yesterday and will continue today at the La Salle hotel. Bishop Ernest Lynn Waldorf, head of the church in Illinois, is the schoolmaster.

Yesterday the attitude and program of the national church in reference to world peace and national preparedness was a leading topic. The conference decided to leave spiritual direction of soldiers within cantonments to military chaplains, but to strengthen churches located near the camps with additional funds if necessary for the care of soldiers on leave.

An 11 point peace program was affirmed. This includes world peace committees in each local church to lead in peace studies provided by the national church and to adapt these to changing needs. Another point was the local promotion of world conferences of churches such as have been held at Utrech, the Netherlands, Madras, India, and Oxford, India. Care of refugees and assistance to conscientious objectors were included in the list.

Temperance activities also were featured in yesterday's sessions. It was announced that there were 177,000 saloons in the country in the pre-prohibition era, and that there now are 422,587 liquor retail stores and taverns in the country.

The liquor bill of America was announced as being 15 billion dollars annually, or approximately one-fifth of the national income.

How Smart Are You About MEAT?

A modern health quiz about a modern food

This Seal means that all statements made in this advertisement are acceptable to the Council on Foods and Nutrition of the American Medical Association.

1. What big health news about meat was recently discovered by scientists?
2. If you were picking the most digestible meat to serve a family with growing children, which of the following would you choose? Beef ☐ Pork ☐ Lamb ☐ Veal ☐
3. Has any civilized person ever lived exclusively on meat? Why?
4. Why is it now less of a hardship to go on a reducing diet?
5. When is a protein complete?
6. In which of the following conditions do you think meat could be included as an important part of the diet? Bright's disease ☐ High blood pressure ☐ Tuberculosis ☐ Arthritis ☐ Anemia ☐
7. This is easy for mothers. How old are babies ordinarily before they get meat in the diet?
8. A porterhouse steak contains more health elements than stewing beef. Is this statement True ☐ False ☐

Now look at the answers

1. The big health news is the discovery that meat is especially rich in certain vitamins—particularly the Vitamin B group, including Vitamin B-1 (thiamine).
2. You could choose any one of them and not go wrong—because, as tests prove, all meats are easily and equally well digested.
3. Yes—the explorer-scientist, Stefansson and his colleague, Anderson, lived exclusively and healthfully on meat for one year under strict scientific observation. Their purpose was to disprove once and for all the old wives' tale of the harmful effect of "too much meat".
4. Because the modern reducing diets prescribed by physicians allow a liberal amount of lean meat, you can lose weight without developing that haggard look and "always-hungry" feeling. Lean meat helps keep up your strength and satisfies you.
5. Scientists call a protein "complete" when it contains the ten essential amino acids. Meat is one of the foods that contains in liberal amounts all of these body building essentials which truly make proteins the "building blocks of the body."
6. If you guessed for only anemia, you are only one-fifth right. Diets liberal in meat are now recommended by modern physicians for patients with, not one, but any of these ailments.
7. Oftentimes meat soup is prescribed by child specialists as early as the fifth month and the baby gets bacon and other meats before the end of the first year.
8. The statement is false. It is a fallacy among many housewives that the expensive cuts are more nourishing. The fact is that the less known cuts, not only of beef, but of lamb, pork and veal are just as nutritious as the fancier ones, often even richer in flavor.

Good News About Stews

Nothing stretches the flavor of meat so much as stew, whether it's beef, lamb or veal. Here are some of the secrets:

1. Cut meat in cubes of uniform thickness. 2. Keep it colorful, rather than "pale," by browning the meat in a skillet beforehand. 3. Cook gently and keep closed while cooking. 4. Give it new color and flavor interest by using vegetables other than carrots, potatoes and onions—for example, green beans, limas and celery. For added interest, slice the vegetables in strips. 5. Season it properly. For example, add a few whole cloves or a bay leaf. Your meat man will help you select the proper "stew meat."

WHEN Governor Elect Dwight Green and his family change their address from Chicago to the executive mansion, Springfield, the early part of next January, they will find a household catalogued from the mantel portrait of Patrick Henry to the yellow breakfast cloth that seats six . . . that is, if the day book prepared by Mrs. Louis L. Emmerson has survived eight years of Democratic administration.

Mrs. Emmerson left this day book, detailing such items as the length of banquet cloths and the number of candelabra in the butler's pantry, because she was aware of the problems that beset a new occupant of the state's most coveted residence.

Illinois' bachelor governor, Henry Horner, found such a record of state protocol extremely helpful, and no doubt Mrs. Green will refer to it on more than one occasion.

When the Greens take up residence in Springfield it will be the first time in a quarter of a century that the big brick and stone mansion has rung with the gayety and laughter of young children. Nancy Green is 12 and Gloria is just 8.

There has been only one bride in the Illinois executive mansion in all its history. That was Mrs. John R. Tanner. Gov. Tanner, a widower when elected to the state's highest office in 1896, provided himself with a hostess by marrying Cora Edith English just 12 days before his inaugeration on Jan. 11, 1897.

EVEN more renowned than this marriage, however, was that of Joseph Duncan in 1828, six years before he took the gubernatorial chair. Gov. Duncan met his wife, Elizabeth Caldwell Smith of New York at a dinner party given by John Quincy Adams. Henry Clay, sitting next to Miss Smith, whispered in her ear that Duncan was not only a good looking fellow but a good son, having taken care of his widowed mother and educated his sister and two younger brothers. The romance developed.

It was during the administration of Gov. Duncan that Springfield was established as the capital of Illinois. But it was not until 1857 that the executive residence was completed and opened to Gov. William H. Bissell and his family. Gov. Bissell died in the mansion—the only governor besides Henry Horner to have died during his tenure of office.

Today the executive mansion, with its 20 odd rooms, is in moderately good repair. A sun parlor, one of the most livable rooms in the house, was added to the southwest corner during the Emmerson administration.

It has never been a custom for governors to contribute furnishings to the mansion, altho a red upholstered suite on the lower floor is a reminder of the Lowden family and the oriental rug in the music room is a gift of the Emmersons. The china closets are filled with a green and gold service embossed with the state seal. There also are a few pieces of the lovely pink Minton used in earlier days.

The inaugural reception early in January will be Mrs. Green's first social duty. Then there will be the assembly dinners when members of the senate and house with their wives are invited to the executive mansion. In October will come the dinner for the Supreme court.

MISS MARION MARTIN, director of the Republican women's division, left Chicago for Washington yesterday prepared to take up the reins of permanent G. O. P. organization looking to 1944. Miss Martin was pleased with the results achieved by women in the national

BY JUDITH CASS.

THERE will be some at the second annual Program dance who are too young to remember when girls were asked by their most devoted beaux for the supper interval at a dance, but there will be others who will feel as if they were back in the days of their girlhood tonight.

When all dances were program dances a belle always had all her dances and the supper intermission spoken for before she went to the party or shortly after arriving. Cut-in dances did away with that sort of thing and a belle is passed from one swain to another, sometimes so rapidly that she dances only a few moments with one man. And she eats supper with whomever she happens to be with when the urge to sup arises, for as a rule supper is served buffet style for hours.

Tonight at the Program dance at the Racquet club, however, there will be an old-fashioned supper interval, which will start just before midnight. The receiving line—composed of the women on the committee—will form promptly at 9:30 and the music for the first dance will commence at 10. The strains of the last dance will be heard before 1:30, for that is the closing time. Every third dance is to be a waltz and cutting in will be permitted only after the first pause in each dance.

Club Lounge Converted Into Circus Tent for Party.

The lounge of the club has been turned into a sort of circus tent for the party and John R. Winterbotham will carry out the circus or carnival idea by leading the after-supper cotilion in a ringmaster's outfit, long whip and all. The Walter Paepckes, the John W. Roots, and the junior Byron Harveys are among those giving dinner parties before the dance.

Mrs. A. Watson Armour III., Mrs. Ambrose C. Cramer, Mrs. Michael Cudahy, Mrs. C. Daggett Harvey, Mrs. Lloyd A. Lafin, Mrs. Philip B. Maher, Mrs. Paepcke, Mrs. Potter Palmer III., and Mrs. Clifford Rodman will receive.

The men on the committee are their husbands and Durand Smith and Walter Frazier. The junior Charles S. Deweys are on the committee also, and it was hoped they would be here for the dance but they did not come west from their home in Far Hills, N. J. Instead Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Sr. departed yesterday for a 10 day visit with their grandchildren and Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Jr.

The former Frances Jeffery and her husband, Harris Fahnestock, are coming from their home in Concord, Mass., to attend the marriage tomorrow of her cousin, Edmund J. Doering III., and Miss Caroline Castle.

Ballet Theater Director to Address Arts Club.

Richard Pleasant, director of the Ballet Theater, will speak on "Corner Stones of Ballet" this morning at 11 o'clock at the Arts club. Some of the dancers will give a special demonstration to illustrate the talk, which is the second in a series of five programs arranged for the Illinois Opera guild members.

The Drama league is going to have what promises to be an interesting program next Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Arts club. Paul Leyssac, diseur, will read Ibsen's "Peer Gynt," and Mrs. Townsend McKeever, a member of the league, will play the musical accompaniment by Grieg.

Mrs. Hempstead Washburne will give a tea from 4:30 to 7 o'clock this afternoon for the directors of the Cenacle guild who are sponsoring a benefit card party on Nov. 16 at the Stevens hotel. The tea will be at the home of Mrs. Washburne's aunt, Miss Lillian Inderrieden of 1439 State parkway.

Several attractive young women will usher at the card party, among them Miss Jeanne and Miss Elizabeth Stenson, Mrs. Gregory Cummings, Miss Marion and Miss Evelyn Gordon, Miss Jane Kruescher, Miss Betty Gillespie, Miss Rosemary Rocca, Miss Caterina and Miss Marianna Bolognesi, Mrs. Peter Kilbourn, and Miss Katherine Gilman.

Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed Cliff Dwellers' Hostess.

Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed will be hostess for the Cliff Dwellers' tea after the symphony this afternoon. Mrs. Clyde M. Carr, Princess Rostislav, Madam Gitta Gradova, Mrs. Bartholomay Osborne, and Mrs. John Paul Welling will assist.

The Cordon also will serve tea after the symphony.

Fashion Calls for Earrings, Big and Gaudy

BY REA SEEGER.

Earrings have suddenly attained fashion importance, caused no doubt by the trend of cover-up clothes. The only place left for jewelry is around the wrists, or skewered in the ear lobes. However, the simple button or round earrings are definitely insignificant these days. Fashion-wise women wear earrings as large as they can manage to carry. Huge gold affairs are going strong, the bigger the better, and real gold is the fashion.

Great chunky modernistic masses, rococco conceits, Venetian scrolls, and rope twists are used for the gold pairs with the dangling models coming in in second place in popularity. And tho they look impossibly heavy to hang from shell pink ear, they are unexpectedly featherweight.

Multicolored jeweled creations will dazzle any sleuthing shopper. As many as six to eight different colored semiprecious or frankly fake jewels set in shiny gold or silver are worn day or evening; small neat things for daytime, the blazing gargantuan affairs for dress parade. Single stones, at least three-fourths of an inch square, are set in extremely simple prongs like an old fashioned Tiffany setting. Large simulated sapphires, amethysts, rubies, and emeralds are the best finds.

Outsize floral sprays of every conceivable combination of real and semiprecious stones continue to blaze effectively as fur pins, contrasting collar, lapel or muff. Some are unusually long, eight to nine inches, others go in for extreme width and the finished results are not only eye blinding but high fashion, highlighting the darkest suit or dress or coat with splendor and chic.

Fashion photograph . . . bowknots of coppery gold colored sequins are sewed hit or miss all over the bouffant white net skirt of this new dance dress. The fitted low necked bodice uses bands of the sequins to outline the curved edge. Over the dress is a brilliant emerald green wool evening coat with a flattering collar of fluffy dark fox fur.

ENGAGEMENTS

Miss Baumann is a graduate of Northwestern university and Mr. Wallen was graduated from the University of Illinois. Both Miss Baumann and Mr. Wallen are now preparing for master degrees in English at the University of Chicago. The wedding will take place in December.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Behr of 3716 West Flournoy street announce the engagement of their daughter, Doris, to Abraham Jacobson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Myer Jacobson. The wedding is planned for Dec. 28.

Crooks to Sing Role Here That Won Him Fame

BY RITA FITZPATRICK.

Richard Crooks, one of the nation's leading tenors, started out to accomplish big things at the age of 14 when he painted the great reservoir tanks of the Trenton, N. J., gas works to earn money for music lessons. Since that time he has traveled over a long and arduous road to fame. He allowed nothing to detour him and paused only to make spectacular debuts in the various musical lanes, church singing, concert work, radio, and opera.

Tomorrow evening he will make another debut. At the peak of his career, he has chosen to appear for the first time with the Chicago Opera company in one of the most glamorous productions of Massenet's delicate "Manon." Lithesome Helen Jepson will furnish the love and lyric interest in the title rôle. The well known Portuguese conductor, Maurice Abravanel, will direct.

It was in the same rôle of "Chevalier des Grieux," which he will sing Saturday, that Crooks made his successful Metropolitan opera debut on Feb. 25, 1933. That evening he wore the costume of Caruso and remembered the days when as a boy in his teens he went hungry all day in order to buy standing room to hear that great man sing.

"This is going to be a 'Manon' to remember," Crooks asserted yesterday as he relaxed his long frame in a comfortable chair and wiped his forehead after rehearsals. "This will be the first time that Miss Jepson has sung this opera and Chicago audiences will appreciate the artistry with which she depicts the simple but chameleon soul of 'Manon.' She also will be one of the most beautiful stars to sing the rôle as her costumes have been designed especially for her by Omar Kiam of Hollywood.

"I have sung with Miss Jepson many times but I believe this will become one of her greatest rôles. It may be the first time she sings it but it certainly won't be the last."

Crooks' prediction probably is a safe one. He has sung before the public for the last 25 years. He sang as a boy soprano at the Ocean Grove, N. J., auditorium when 10 years old and two years later shared honors with Mme. Schumann-Heink before an audience of 14,000 at a big music festival in Trenton, N. J. "I think the greatest thrill I ever experienced was when Madame Schumann-Heink kissed me after the performance," he recollected.

After service with the 626th aero squadron during the first world war Crooks became soloist at the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church in New York. It was then that Walter Damrosch heard him sing and offered him a $10,000 loan to study abroad. The young singer refused the loan. He wished to be independent.

Some time later Crooks made his debut with the New York Symphony orchestra in Carnegie hall. On such a day most singers lie in bed, don't talk, and go around with the white of an egg in their throat for hours. Not Dick Crooks. That morning he won the handball championship of New York state.

There followed a whirlwind of recitals and concerts from coast to coast and study abroad. He made his operatic debut at the Hamburg opera in "Tosca" and became a European sensation. He returned to this country, however, to spread his fame wider thru the air lanes. At present he is the only member of the Metropolitan to continue a radio program of his own for seven consecutive years.

"Altho I have sung in Chicago many times," Crooks said, "I am looking forward to my operatic debut here Saturday. That's one nice thing about being a singer. There's always another gate to crash and debuts to make until you're ancient."

Dear Miss Provines: The man I love and married spent some time Sunday reading my copy of your Notebook and since then he has all but exasperated me in his systematic canvass of every Mexican lunchroom in Chicago. What for? Well, it seems that he saw cabrito stew mentioned in one of the rhymes and it brought back memories to him of when he spent three years working for the Deep Rock Oil company down in Xicotencatl, Mexico, and he would travel over 60 miles every Sunday to the city of Queretaro just to get cabrito stew as made by an old Mexican woman. Later, when we were married and he was transferred to Orange Walk, British Honduras, Central America, we traveled 200 miles by boat to Belize because he heard that an Indian there specialized in cabrito stew. Aside. We never did find the Indian nor any cabrito stew. We had to settle for mutton roast, tea and crullers, Belize being a little bit of England just as any spot becomes English when Englishmen settle there.

Now the search for cabrito stew begins anew in Chicago. What to do? What to do?

A flying Valkyrie in everyday life as well as on the opera stage—that's Marjorie Lawrence. The Australian soprano winged her way here yesterday in a United Airlines plane, and, "Mum-m," she rhapsodized, her blue eyes sparkling, "that was a bee-u-tiful trip!"

Her flight from San Francisco was the last hop on an air journey that took her from Buenos Aires over the Andes to Chili and up the South, Central, and North American coasts. Next to singing, she said, she loves to fly.

Miss Lawrence is to sing Tuesday with the Chicago Opera company in "Carmen." The tenor will be Jan Kiepura. On Thursday, Nov. 21, she will be heard here in her favorite opera, "Salome," with Rene Maison. The performance will be a benefit for Passavant hospital.

It has been four years since Miss Lawrence sang in Chicago. She is happy to be back in the middle west, which reminds her of Australia, and gives her "the feeling of being home."

Women World Wide
by Ruth DeYoung Kohler

congress, always looked to as a barometer of women's progress.

In the 77th congress next January, there will be nine women, five of them Republicans, four Democrats. There have been eight women in the 76th congress. The additional seat was picked up by Republican Jeannette Rankin of Montana. Miss Rankin is not entirely new to Washington, for she was the first woman ever to sit in the national congress. That was from 1917 to 1919 before suffrage had been granted.

Miss Rankin was against war then and she is against war now. In Washington she will find only two men who voted with her against war in 1917. They are Nebraska's George W. Norris in the senate and Representative Harold Knutson of Minnesota.

Returned to congress by the Republicans were Jessie Sumner of Illinois, who believes in, and works for, economy and integrity in government; Edith Nourse Rogers, a veteran from Massachusetts; Mrs. Chester Bolton of Ohio, and Margaret Chase Smith of Maine.

One of the four Democratic women members of congress is Senator Hattie W. Caraway of Arkansas, who was not up for reëlection. She's safe until 1945. Returned to the house of representatives by the Democratic party were Caroline O'Day of New York; Mary Norton, apostle of Frank Hague in New Jersey, and Mrs. Thomas S. McMillan of South Carolina.

Thirteen Directors Elected by Arts Club at Annual Meeting

Thirteen directors were elected yesterday by the Arts club at the annual meeting. These, with the other 25 who compose the board, will meet within the next 10 days to elect officers for the winter. One of the bylaws was changed so that henceforth the board will meet in the last week in May, which means the officers chosen this month will serve only until spring.

The directors elected were W. Woodbridge Dickinson for one year and the following for three year terms: Mrs. John Wentworth, Mrs. Robert M. Hutchins, Mrs. Jean Crawford Adams, William Elsendrath Jr., Mrs. Gustavus F. Swift, Mrs. Frederic Woodward, Mrs. Alfred P. Shaw, Mrs. Ernest A. Hamill II., Mrs. Richard D. Bokum, John A. Holabird, Miss Alice Roullier, and Chauncey McCormick.

Looking at Hollywood
by John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 7.—Elliot Paul has figured out a fine job for Dr. Gallup—managing editor of the Literary Digest. . . . Mary Astor gets the second feminine lead in Bette Davis' "Far Horizon." This is the rôle for which Marlene Dietrich, Sylvia Sidney, Katherine Locke, and a dozen others had been considered or tested. . . . Robert Riskin leaves tomorrow for New York and will look into the possibility of himself and Frank Capra producing a stage play. . . . Norma Shearer left yesterday for New York, and Loretta Young gets back here Sunday to start on "Ballerina," for which she has been studying ballet in New York. . . . Frank Capra showed the first rough cut of "Meet John Doe" to himself, his wife, and Dmitri Tiomkin, and the report from this small circle is that James Gleason turns in his best performance. . . . Eddie Albert has traded in his 38 foot ketch for a 50 foot sloop. . . . The for rent signs are up on The-Hollywood-for-Roosevelt and We-The-People [for Willkie] committee headquarters, and local hot shots are quietly dropping back into the motion picture business again. . . . Bette Davis out of "Far Horizon" a couple of days with a touch of flu. . . . Shooting of Walt Disney's first "Live Action" picture, "The Reluctant Dragon," was finished in record time. As is the custom with Disney features, there will be a book about the movie—with a foreword by Robert Benchley. . . . "Bambi" is nearing completion after what seems like years, and Walt is readying for July release a full lengther called "Dumbo," which is about a baby elephant in a circus who is all ears. His mother is very ashamed of her Ugly Duckling child until somebody teaches him to fly with his ears and he becomes a sensation.

The Group Theater is bidding for the services of Glenn Ford, 24 year old juvenile, who gets his big chance opposite Margaret Sullavan in "Flotsam," for a rôle in Irwin Shaw's "Retreat to Pleasure." Two years ago Ford was starving in New York—had a piece of pumpkin pie at the automat as his Christmas dinner—and he tried desperately but unsuccessfully to get in to see the Group's casting head, Harold Clurman. . . . Muriel Angelus, who had a splendid nonsinging rôle in "The Great McGinty," goes back to Broadway for an important spot in "New Orleans," a new Hammerstein-Romberg musical.

The Borrowed Cottage

By Alice Campbell

[Copyright: 1940: By Alice Campbell.]

SYNOPSIS.

Rowan Wilde, an American girl, goes to the isolated cottage of Hazel Fordyce, in England, to do some studying. Arriving alone at night, she opens a closet door and a dead man falls out, getting blood on her skirt. She rushes from the cottage and runs into 32 year old Stephen Smedley, a young publisher, who because of a breakdown, has come to the country for rest. He lives in an old chapel nearby. Rowan gets suspicious of him when he goes off for help and fails to return, but when she starts out searching for him she stumbles upon him prostrate. Helping him into the cottage, he collapses on the sofa where she lets him sleep while she goes to bed upstairs. She is awakened by Stephen entering her room, holding a butcher knife. A sharp command from Rowan makes Stephen drop the knife and retreat downstairs where she locks him up until morning. Finding his brief case, with a sealed letter and a manuscript about Russia, she decdes to hide it under her window eave with her bloody skirt. The next morning the body has disappeared, and Stephen, seeming to remember nothing of the knife episode, advises her not to mention finding the body, as its disappearance might get them both into trouble. The dead man turns out to be Bertram Bogge, no good brother of the vicar who lives next door. Lord Romrytch and his secretary, Forbes, also neighbors, help in the search for Bogge. Rowan, planning to return Stephen's brief case, invites him for dinner and discovers the body in a cupboard. She faints and when she comes to the body has disappeared the second time. This time the police are notified and they find the body in a well. During the night Rowan is awakened by the pounding of typewriter keys and typewritten notes are slipped under her door demanding the return of the brief case under penalty of death. She escapes to Stephen's chapel and sleeps on his cot. The next morning she finds her bedroom door locked by the police, who are hunting evidence. Egbert, the caretaker, is arrested for the murder as it is learned that Bertram had assaulted Egbert's fiancée. Later Egbert is released and Scotland Yard is called in. Stephen disappears and Rowan, afraid the police might discover the hidden brief case and her bloody skirt, confesses her predicament to Lord Romrych, who promises to help her recover them. Scotland Yard questons Rowan, hinting that she and Stephen are the murderers. While she is being questioned, she overhears the police report a suicide which, from their descripion, must be Stephen. The vicar calls on Rowan and demands she give him the brief case, which he admits contains valuable information concerning his dead brother. The police overhear this conversation and again question Rowan.

INSTALMENT XLVII.

FALSELY ACCUSED.

"Very well, Miss Wilde." Inspector Headcorn girded himself for action. "And now, you listen to me. Sergt. Dabney took pains to catch every syllable your late visitor said to you. He reports that Mr. Bogge shares our conviction that you and Smedley have conspired together to withhold certain documents of vital importance to our case.

"I shall get Mr. Bogge's reasons for so thinking, but that can wait. His remarks merely confirm the view I had already accepted—namely, that at the time his brother was murdered these papers, whose nature I can guess, disappeared. The vicar said that, didn't he?"

Rowan set down her cup.

"He did. I can't tell you why."

"And, after seeing you and Smedley holding agitated conference in the drive, he concluded that what he looked for and failed to discover had been hidden with a very definite object? Remember that according to the medical findings the victim's throat must have been cut very near the time this conference took place."

She nodded. "It's absurd, of course. We hadn't been in the locked room at all. I, at least, had only just seen there was such a place."

"Smedley knew," he retorted. "He'd been in there. His prints are on the table, the doors, the large Spanish chair. Not on the heavy doorstop. That article had been carefully wiped."

"Doorstop?" She frowned.

"Brass thing, behind the screen. Covered with a glove or a scarf it was used to stun Bogge till the razor could be fetched from the overhead room. The curtain, previously folded on the sofa, was employed to shield the murderer from blood splattering, the latter to spread over the corpse. Whatever papers were removed——"

"Why do you keep saying anything was removed? Because the vicar made such a business of searching that room?"

"Did he do that?" rapped the inspector sharply.

"Oh, yes! Ask Lord Romrytch. Doesn't it strike you as queer he should come here threatening me with arrest and in the same breath trying to make a bargain?"

He studied her. "Understandable, if so. I think we shall find that Bertram Bogge had long ago proved himself a forger and defrauder. That he had signed the vicar's name to more than one check. I have in my wallet the forged introduction Bertram Bogge used in order to form contact with Lord Romrytch. If the vicar, beholden to Lord Romrytch in many ways, suspected that his brother was engaged in some nefarious project aimed at a valued benefactor he would naturally do his utmost to prevent the proof of it seeing the light of day."

"Stop! Has it never occurred to you the vicar himself may have been a party to this project?"

Disregarding the scorn in the inspector's eye she raced on, intent on her idea.

"It seems to me extremely probable. The way the man's acting now looks as if he had a lot more to lose than a little neighborhood prestige—and if he were a bishop I'd say the same! What's wrong with his killing his brother so he could reap full benefit from the scheme? Not finding what he did murder to grab, well, of course he's all sweating with fear! I'll tell you this, in case you don't know it. Even before his brother's body was found he broke in here to ransack my room upstairs!"

"Your room, eh?" The inspector made a pounce. "So it was entered during your absence! Why do you suspect the vicar?"

"Because——" Oh, God, what had she said? "Well, we saw him, Mr. Smedley and I, sneaking in this direction, just before I got home and began noticing little things that had got moved."

She thought of the typed messages. She hadn't been at all sure she could attribute them to the vicar. There was always Mr. Forbes, linked up in various significant ways.

The inspector shook a contemptuous head. "Thin, Miss Wilde, very thin, tho you may have hit the bull's eye as to motive. Whoever killed Bertram Bogge almost certainly did so in order to obtain documents he hoped to use with profit to himself. Bertram Bogge was writing a book. The landlord of the Dorset Arms saw the manuscript, a bulky affair, kept as a rule in a brown leather brief case plainly marked with the owner's initials—B. B. The young caretaker, Yallee, swears to having seen both manuscript and case on the long table in the Tudor room of this cottage as late as Whit Monday, at 7 a. m. Since then they have vanished completely. Are you taking this in?"

At the words "brief case" her whole body had begun to quiver and shake. She moved a little out of the lamplight.

"Certainly. What about it?"

"Just this: Your friend Mr. Smedley is a publisher."

"Was a publisher," the inspector dryly corrected. "In the Dorset Arms he was heard to answer questions concerning the chances for a work on present day conditions in the Russian Ukraine, and understood to say he would read the said work with a view to its publication." A challenging pause.

"See here," said Rowan suddenly. "Did the vicar say that when he saw Mr. Smedley and me talking outside either of us was carrying a leather case?"

The case had been tight pressed under Stephen's arm. If the dour eye had pied it . . .

"No," grudged the inspector. "Apparently the vicar noticed nothing of the kind."

"Well, then!" There was triumph in her voice.

But the vicar had seen the case. Nothing could persuade her to the contrary. If he were suppressing this most vital fact he could be doing so only for some urgent, personal reason.

She helped herself to a cigaret. The inspector struck a match and in its flare took a searching survey of her face.

"That was a relief, was it, Miss Wilde? More proof that you are not being frank. The case had already been hidden. Why not? You had time and to spare. Let me now inform you that at this very moment Scotland Yard is securing a dossier concerning you, your friend Smedley, and the late Bertram Bogge. That very speedily we may be in a position to make hay of your innocuous sounding statement. Whether or not you were previously acquainted with Smedley, there can be no doubt your relations with him were intimate. This being so——"

"Take that back!" she blazed.

"Sit down," he grated. "Do you wish me to substantiate the charge?"

Her glare did not waver, even tho she was remembering the lover like embrace Sergt. Dabney had witnessed.

"You can't. It's a lie. Why don't you substantiate a few other things? Find out why Lord Romrytch got rid of his secretary like a shot, yes, only this afternoon. Ask Tonks of the Dorset Arms about the time this same secretary spent hobnobbing with Bogge in his room at the pub. Why did Forbes keel over in a heap when they got the body up out of the well? Who's still got the key to the Tudor room—unless he'd thrown it down the sewer? I can put you on to any number of funny things if you'll lay off Stephen Smedley for a minute. For instance——"

Stravinsky's New Symphony Stirs Acclaim

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Every other blue moon there comes along a piece of music whose originality and sincertiy and the worth of whose content are apparent even on first hearing.

Such a piece is Igor Stravinsky's new C Major Symphony, which was written for and dedicated to the Chicago Symphony orchestra and which was presented for the first time by that organization in Orchestra hall last night under the composer's direction. In the course of the performance we caught ourselves muttering, "Ha! A major work!"

The smphony seizes interest immediately by the piquant, bustling, indefinably cheery quality of its first movement. The principal theme has a bright, rhythmic, mischievous character which recommends it quickly to the ear and the spirit and even to the feet. The scoring is light, the form classically logical and gracious.

Interest is heightened in the second movement, a rarefied larghetto with a quality which may be described as sophisticated ecstasy—or, to steal a quotation from Sol Babitz's admirable program notes, as "stately lyricism."

The symphony's immediate appeal undoubtedly lessens as it goes on, for the fugue in the third movement plumbs depths which are not easy for a listener to reach on his first try. The fourth movement, too, is a great deal more recondite than the two which open the work.

Besides conducting his new symphony Mr. Stravinsky offered us a great panorama of his works. The earliest piece on the program—the whooshing, sparkling little "Fireworks"—dates from 1908. In between that and the symphony were suites from the early ballets, "Petrouchka" and "The Fire-Bird," and an important work of a middle period—the 1924 piano concerto.

The Thursday-Friday subscribers, who have had composers and composer-conductors galore this year but have never had a peek at a soloist, are seeing one this week in the person of Jane Anderson, who plays the concerto. Her performance last night had vigor, sureness, and—in the middle movement—a graceful lyrical beauty.

Enya Gonzalez, soprano from the Philippine islands, will make her Chicago operatic debut in the part of Cio-Cio-San in Puccini's "Madame Butterfly," at the Civic Opera house tonight. This performance is the first of the Chicago Opera company's popular priced board of education series.

Here Is Story of Opera Being Sung Tonight

Here is a synopsis of the opera "Madame Butterfly" to be presented tonight by the Chicago Opera company. It is suggested that persons unfamiliar with the story, who are planning to attend the performance, clip it out and take it with them to the Civic Opera house. It will greatly increase their enjoyment.

"MADAME BUTTERFLY."

Opera in three acts by Giacomo Puccini. Libretto by Illica and Giacosa, after a story by John Luther Long and a play by David Belanco. The scene is laid in Japan. The time is actually shortly after 1854 [the date of Commodore Matthew Perry's first negotiations with Japan], but the opera is customarily presented in modern dress.

Act 1. Goro, a Japanese marriage broker, is showing a house and grounds, high above Nagasaki harbor, to Lieut. Benjamin Franklin Pinkerton and Sharpless, the American consul. Here, later in the day, Pinkerton is to marry 15 year old Cho-Cho-San, nicknamed "Madame Butterfly," in a hollow "Japanese" marriage.

Sharpless tries to persuade Pinkerton to abandon this conscienceless idea, but Pinkerton laughs at him. Soon the voice of Cho-Cho-San is heard offstage, and then the little bride enters, followed by her bridesmaids. The marriage is solemnized with due ceremony and festivity.

The gayety is interrupted, however, by the arrival of the Bonze, Cho-Cho-San's uncle, who denounces the bride because she has given up her own religion. The guests are shocked, and depart, leaving Cho-Cho-San and Pinkerton alone as evening falls.

Act 2. Three years have passed without word from Pinkerton. Cho-Cho-San continues to live in the house above the harbor, with her faithful maid Suzuki and the little blond child of Cho-Cho-San and Pinkerton. Suzuki suspects that Pinkerton is disloyal, but Cho-Cho-San, with unshaken faith, describes the way in which, one fine day, he will return.

Sharpless arrives to read a letter which has just come from Pinkerton. Before he can begin to read, however, the rich Prince Yamadori comes to offer his hand. Despite Sharpless' urging that she accept, Cho-Cho-San spurns him.

The moment that Cho-Cho-San hears that Pinkerton is to return that very day, she is too excited to listen further. No sooner has Sharpless left than the cannon of the port sounds, announcing the arrival of Pinkerton's ship. Suzuki and Cho-Cho-San deck the house with flowers. Then the two, with the baby, stand all night, looking out the window toward the harbor.

Act 3. When morning comes the three are still watching. Cho-Cho-San decides to take the tired baby away to bed. While she is gone from the room, Pinkerton and Sharpless arrive, with Kate, Pinkerton's lawful American wife. When Cho-Cho-San reënters, the unhappy situation is clear to her. The Americans leave. Cho-Cho-San takes her father's dagger from its place of safe keeping, and stabs herself. Pinkerton comes hastening back to save her, but he is too late.

WILDCATS ARE ALL READY FOR ILLINI PASSES

They Expect Usual Zuppke Trickery.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Bob Zuppke, the old trickster from Champaign is going to bring his Illini football circus to Dyche stadium tomorrow and the impending appearance has Northwestern's Wildcats leaning toward the nervous side.

On paper the Wildcats are able to figure without much effort that they should be able to take care of the Illini, just as they did all previous opponents, Minnesota's Gophers excepted, but the doubtful, even treacherous element is Zuppke whose coaching platform is "a new act every week."

And along with the probability of new Zuppke tricks the Wildcats may have to worry along without the full time assistance of Bill De Correvont, the passing, running left half, who has been shy one sound ankle since the Wisconsin battle three weeks ago. Bill worked out last evening and said he expected to play a part of the game.

The Man Is Determined.

There is double reason for being concerned about what Zuppke might invent for the occasion. Last Saturday afternoon against Wisconsin the little general became greatly vexed because the officials didn't like a certain forward pass play. They ruled it illegal, whereupon Zup is reported to have promised himself that he'd think up something so baffling it would not only fool the opposition but the officials as well. He might have this concoction ready to pour down the Wildcats' throats tomorrow.

Anything new turned loose by Zuppke probably will be built around the pitching arm of Dick Good, the sophomore who furnished so much excitement for Wisconsin a week ago. In that game Good heaved 11 successful passes in 25 attempts, the gain being 106 yards. The expectation, among the Wildcats, is that Good will be pitching tomorrow on a wholesale scale.

Waldorf Expects Trouble.

The respect for Zuppke's talents isn't confined to the Wildcats' clubhouse. It extends right across the hall to the room where Lynn Waldorf maps strategy for his football warriors. The basis for the fearing is that he always has found the Illini exceedingly tough. There was that 6 to 0 upset in 1937, for example. And Waldorf professes to believe the Illinois team is far better than its record indicates. Its only 1940 victory was registered over Bradley.

The Wildcats probably will start off with Dick Richards at quarter, Red Hahnenstein at left half, Tuffy Chambers at right, and Don Clawson at full. Paul Soper, moved over from full back, will second Hahnenstein; Don Kruger will sit in at quarter when Richards is resting. Ike Kepford will be Chambers' aid at right half, and George Benson will sub for Clawson.

Don't Forget Mr. Chambers.

If the Illini, in the course of their preparation for the Wildcats, haven't reckoned on what Chambers might do against them, they have erred. The 175 pounder has been somewhat in eclipse due to the activities of De Correvont and Hahnenstein, but he's been a big factor in the Wildcats' back field. He's their leading scorer with 18 points and is third in the Western conference.

Advance sale of tickets indicates a 35,000 turnout tomorrow. The end seats, approximately 7,000 at $1.75 for adults and 50 cents for youths, will be placed on sale at the stadium tomorrow.

ILLINI PICK WORBAN.

The roster for the trip follows:

CENTERS—Ken Cheeley, Bob Cherry, John MacArthur.

HALF BACKS—Jimmy Easterbrook, Dick Good, Johnny Worban, Cliff Peterson, Liz Astroth, Don Elting, Bob Falkenstein.

FULL BACKS—George Bernhardt, Myron Pfeifer, Bert Piggott.

Nebraska Prep Player Who Went to Coast Is Ineligible

San Diego, Cal., Nov. 7 (AP).—Jim Bender, 17 years old, former Sutton, Neb., High school football player, is ineligible for further interscholastic athletic competition in California, the California Interscholastic federation's executive board ruled tonight. University of Nebraska followers had charged that Sutton was induced to come to Oceanside, Cal., High school by a coast conference school.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.

STEVE JUZWIK, who Bob Zuppke says ranks with Tom Harmon as the back of the year, withdrew from Notre Dame two weeks after he enrolled. . . . He had his heart set on becoming an asbestos worker. . . . He returned the following February. . . . Curley Lambeau, coach of the Green Bay Packers, says the National Football league never has had a tackle better than Joe Stydahar of the Bears. . . . Wonder if President Hutchins knows about those scrimmages that are going on among the undergraduates at Stagg field. . . . Good luck to Savior Canadeo, 1940 Chicago Golden Gloves welterweight champion, who will leave Monday for Los Angeles to begin a career as a professional under the management of George Blake. . . . Hal Hursh, Indiana's ace forward passer, doesn't remember anything that occurred in the second quarter of last Saturday's game with Ohio State. . . . Early in the contest he was hit on the noggin. . . . A special train will carry Tom Harmon's home town supporters from Gary to Minneapolis for tomorrow's game between Michigan and Minnesota. . . . Bucky Harris, newly reappointed manager of the Senators, was offered a one year contract to succeed Oscar Vitt at Cleveland, but he insisted upon a three year document at the following terms: $15,000 for the first year, $17,500 for each of the two remaining seasons. . . . Don Budge has a slick looking new gas buggy, but he complains that it rattles when he hits 115 miles an hour.

Cinemactress Gail Patrick, who recently sued Robert Cobb, vice president of the Hollywood baseball club, for divorce, was represented in court by Attorney Victor Ford Collins, president of the club, which led to the suggestion that it was perhaps the smoothest piece of teamwork executed by the Stars all season. . . . Football coaches in the Pacific Coast conference frantically are seeking scouting material on the Chicago Bears in an effort to halt Clark Shaughnessy's Stanford eleven. . . . George Halas and Shaughnessy collaborated this summer and as a result Stanford's offense is almost a duplicate of the Bears'. . . . Floyd Chambers, Northwestern half back, is an expert skier. . . . He learned the sport near his home at Salt Lake City. . . . Minnesota has supplied more native born pro hockey players than all the rest of the United States combined. . . . Many of them, including Cully Dahlstrom, Doc Romnes, Mike Karakas, Sam Lopresti, and Johnny Mariucci, have been Blackhawks, but perhaps the outstanding Minnesotan, Goalie Frank Brimsek of the Boston Bruins, got away from the Chicago scouts. . . . Brimsek once walked into the Hawk offices and tried to sell himself, but he was turned down without a tryout.

And face ahead with confidence,

NOTRE DAME VS. NAVY ATTRACTS SELLOUT THRONG

63,216 Await Battle in Baltimore Tomorrow.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 7.—It certainly is terrible how Notre Dame "lost prestige" by beating Army only 7 to 0 last week. A mere handful of 63,216 fans has bought tickets for the Irish-Navy game in Baltimore Saturday afternoon. Just capacity in Baltimore's Municipal stadium, that's all.

The largest crowd to see a game in Baltimore since the Army-Navy game in 1924 will be on hand. A sellout was announced today, the only pregame one oldtimers in the academy's athletic office can recall.

Navy's hopes of taking the Irish off the list of the nation's undefeated teams, even as Penn knocked the midshipmen off the same list last Saturday, has stimulated the demand for tickets. But all this prating in the east about the lost Irish prestige remains a pain in the neck, in view of the popularity of the impending battle in Baltimore. We don't believe that 63,216 would spend their good dough and time to see Navy play a team devoid of prestige.

Middies Aren't Overconfident.

They aren't kidding themselves here at the academy about Notre Dame's football team losing prestige because it beat Army only 7 to 0. Maj. E. E. [Swede] Larson, head coach, all his assistants and all the players are among those who expect the Irish to be a far different team than the so-called complacent outfit that had that narrow squeak against Army.

Everybody Is Going.

The entire corps at the academy—2,596 men, the largest student body in the history of the Navy—will attend the game, going to Baltimore on five special trains. Led by the Navy band of enlisted men and the midshipmen's drum corps, they will parade from their railroad siding to the stadium.

After the game the Notre Dame players and coaches will accompany the Middies back to Annapolis and will be their dinner guests in Bancroft hall. An elaborate program of entertainment has been planned for the hours before the Irish take their special train for home at 11 o'clock Saturday night.

IRISH REVISE LINEUP.

Owen Evans, South Bend sophomore, took over the starting left half back post, moving Bob Saggau to the second team. Bernie Crimmins was lined up at full back, while Capt. Milt Piepul, who has been hurt for two weeks, operated with the second team.

Bob Maddock and Joe Laiber took over the starting guard posts, dropping Pete Kelly and Johnny Gubanich to the second team. Gordy O'Reilly, Chicago junior who has missed two games with injuries, was with the starting team in place of Bob Osterman, who will miss the trip because of injuries. Walt Ziemba, Hammond sophomore, was in Paul Lillis' spot at right tackle. The following made the trip:

ENDS—Dove, O'Brien, Sheridan, Kovatch, Ebli, Murphy.
TACKLES—Gallagher, Lillis, Brutz, Ziemba, L. Sullivan, Neff, Rymkus.
GUARDS—P. Kelly, Gubanich, Maddock, Laiber, E. Sullivan, Bercolos.
CENTERS—McHale, O'Reilly, Lanahan Brock.
QUARTER BACKS—Hargrave, Girolami, Hayes.
HALF BACKS—Saggau, Juzwik, Evans, Bagarus, McGannon, Earley.
FULL BACKS—Capt. Piepul, Crimmins, Lee, Wright.

Hawks Make a Fight of It in Hockey Opener

MICHIGAN SQUAD, MINUS SUKUP, OFF FOR MINNESOTA

Coach Fritz Crisler and a Michigan football squad of 34 players spent last night in Chicago preparatory to their trip today to Minneapolis, where the unbeaten Wolverines meet likewise undefeated Minnesota tomorrow in the annual battle for the Little Brown Jug.

Crisler and his coaches expressed worry about the 15 pounds per man weight handicap Michigan will have to give to the Gophers and likewise about the absence of Milo Sukup, senior guard, who, with Capt. Forrest Evashevski, leads the way on Tom Harmon's runs. Sukup was left in an Ann Arbor hospital, where he is under observation following symptoms of a concussion. Sophomore Bob Kolesar will fill his position.

Hopes for the Best.

"Under these conditions, I don't see how we possibly can be rated as favorites," said Coach Crisler. "I just hope the boys play their best ball and we give the Gophers an interesting afternoon."

Crisler expressed surprise at a report that Harmon had accepted a bid to play in the East-West Shrine game in San Francisco on New Year's day. He said Harmon had not mentioned such an invitation and expressed the opinion it would not be extended before the close of the season.

The team worked out in Ann Arbor yesterday before leaving and paid particular attention to the kicking game. Harmon and his substitute, George Wise, worked on punting and both the kicking and receiving of the kickoff was emphasized.

BIERMAN CHIDES GOPHERS.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 7 [Special].—Bernie Bierman became a little caustic today as his Gophers, spending most of the chilly afternoon on defense, had considerable trouble stopping Michigan plays as demonstrated by the reserves.

Changes were made frequently in the first team because of the ground the Michigan plays gained. Judd Ringer relieved Bob Fitch at one end, Helge Pukema supplanted Gordon Paschka at one guard, Fred Van't Hull was in Dick Wildung's tackle post and Bill Daley saw plenty of action at full back in an effort to bolster the defense.

"Stop Harmon" became the battle cry of the Gophers as they wound up their strenuous sessions. There isn't likely to be any change in the Minnesota starting lineup Saturday with the possible exception that Wildung will be at tackle instead of Van't Hull.

Nebraska Takes No Chances; Drills in Secrecy for Iowa

BY WILFRID SMITH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 7.—Nebraska's football team, which seemed to have assured itself the honor of a Big Six conference championship by whipping Missouri, 1939 title holder, and Oklahoma, the 1938 champion, still is unwilling to take any chances. Plans for next week's Pittsburgh game have been laid aside while the Cornhuskers prepare for Iowa's invasion of Memorial stadium Saturday afternoon.

A capacity crowd—an old story under the current Nebraska coaching régime—will see the Hawkeyes play their first game against Nebraska since Eddie Anderson became Iowa coach.

In line with this undefined fear that Iowa may snap Nebraska's football supremacy in the plains states, Coach Biff Jones today drew tighter his restrictions governing varsity practice. With military candor, and with equal authority, Maj. Jones prohibits side line observation on the theory that no sightseers, no espionage.

Beaten Only by Minnesota.

Nebraska has done right well since its early season defeat by Minnesota, 13 to 7, when the Gophers won on a long pass, after a foul by Nebraska nullified a touchdown run. The Cornhuskers do not begrudge the loss on this basis, however, since it merely evened the series with the Gophers in the four years since Jones succeeded Dana X. Bible as Nebraska's coach. They do feel they are not outclassed by the Western conference, and in particular, they believe that victory over Iowa this week will stamp them as equal to any first division eleven in the Big Nine. Nebraska won from Indiana this fall a week before the Hoosiers defeated Iowa.

Nebraska has improved since the Minnesota game by the development of reserves, who earlier were thrust into the lineup unexpectedly because of ineligibility of 1939 sophomores. Nebraska has at least three excellent guards and four tackles and the devastating blocking of the guards has been the key to its attack.

No one questions the award of the most valuable player honor to Warren Alfson, 190 pound right guard, at this stage of the campaign, and there are some who insist that Ed Schwartzkopf, who weighs only 175 pounds, is next in line for this designation.

Luther All-Round Star.

The all around player on the squad, however, is the right half back, Walter Luther, who pairs with Herman Rohrig, left half back, to give Nebraska as fine running and passing strength as the Cornhuskers have had in four years. Marvin Thompson, end, and Francis Leik, tackle, are the only Huskers on the injured list. Both probably will be on the side lines.

The starting lineup against Iowa will include eight seniors and three juniors. Physically, these men will have no weight advantage over the Iowa eleven that started last week against Purdue. But the Nebraska backs have a slight advantage over the Iowa backfield that probably will include Jim Youell, fourth left half back to be given a game test in Coach Anderson's efforts to find a replacement for Nile Kinnick.

CUNEO GELDING WINS 3 FIRSTS IN NATIONAL SHOW

New York, Nov. 7 [Special].—The Glenholme farm of Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Van Sinderen of Washington, Conn., took the lead with four blue ribbons in the 55th National Horse show tonight, but it was an unheralded 7 year old bay gelding from the Hawthorn farm stables of John F. Cuneo of Libertyville, Ill., which proved the day's big surprise by taking three blue ribbons.

The Hawthorn entry was Wensleydale Wildfire, which came to the show in Madison Square Garden without advance notice. He won in competition for single harness horses over 15.2 hands high and also in the 14.2 hands high class, then teamed with Knockvicar Domino to win in the tandem harness horse class. The latter triumph tied the stables, but Glenholme's Highland Magic, a winner earlier in the competition, broke the tie by taking the single harness pony event for horses between 13.2 and 14.2 hands high. Knockvicar Domino gave Hawthorn a second place by taking the red ribbon in the event for single harness horses hooked to gigs.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Within recent weeks there has been a great deal of conversation about the abundance of lively juvenile talent in the forthcoming National Hockey league race, but last night in the Chicago Stadium 15,211 Chicago Blackhawks loyalists saw their prides and joys licked by old Johnny Sorrell and his New York American colleagues, 1 to 0. The result left the Hawks with an all-time percentage of .666 for opening games, they having won ten and lost four of their previous 14 inaugural battles. The 15,211 who were present to send them off into the fifteenth season constituted another all-time mark, topping the crowd of 14,864 which set the record for first games last November.

Newcomers Add Color.

Oh, yes, the kids were good, but the evening's honors belonged to Gaffer Sorrell, who, for last night at least, was the oldest man on the ice, having attained the doddering age of 34 years against the Methuselan 35 of Hooley Smith, who was reported to have come down with lumbago or one of those other ailments common among ancients, and so was excused from active duty by Manager Mervyn [Red] Dutton of the Americans. Sorrell scored the only goal of the argument in the seventh minute of the last period.

The Americans not only brought out Sorrell, but also a couple of speedy and muscular young men who only a few months ago were just amateurs. One of these was Peanuts O'Flaherty who has scored the Americans' only two other goals this season and the other was Pete Slobodzian, a big lad whose endeavors for the night netted him a gaping aperture in the seat of his shorts.

Chicago Threatens First.

Manager Thompson used the Bentley-Dahlstrom-Hergesheimer line as a starting forward trio, while Manager Dutton of the Americans sent out three of his regular hands in Anderson, Armstrong, and Carr, saving his abundance of kids for later duty. Seibert was the first to cross the New Yorkers' blue line, firing a lateral to Dahlstrom which the latter just missed at the right of the goal mouth.

The lines were changed after five minutes of play, with the result that Bill Carse made the first serious moves of the evening, getting in close three times in a row, but failing to find more than the goal posts.

The Ice Is Repaired.

The ice, under the new league rules, was given a glossy top dressing in the first intermission, with the consent of both managers. The play in the first 10 minutes was as slick as this new veneer, but still futile insofar as scoring was concerned.

A little later the period took on a more strenuous complexion. Both teams had stressed the speed and shooting angles up to here, but now they went in for some old-fashioned checking and bumping, with the result that the first two penalties of the season were called. Anderson was deported in the 12th minute for hooking Pep Kelly, and no amount of diligence during his absence could produce a Hawk goal. The same was true for the Americans at the 15 minute mark when Thoms was sent off for tripping.

The Visitors Come Thru.

The re-icing process was repeated between the second and third periods, also. The first six minutes again evoked a display of up-and-down skating and poke checking, all of it unprofitable until the aforesaid Sorrell sortie with Field. Johnny wound up sprawled face down on the ice at the left side of the Hawk cage, but not until he had shot the puck past the unhappy Goodman, who maintained a statuesque kneeling pose as the red light blinked him. The time was 6:01.

The Hawks will not be in these parts again until Nov. 17 when they meet the Montreal Canadiens in the Stadium. In the interim they will tcil on a three game road trip involving the Canadiens in Montreal Sunday, the Bruins in Boston next Tuesday, and the Americans in New York next Thursday.

Orv Jorgens, Pitcher, Signs with White Sox

Orville Jorgens, a right handed pitcher and brother of the Yankee's catcher, Arndt Jorgens, yesterday was added to the squad of White Sox destined for a jaunt to the Pasadena, Cal., training camp next spring.

A free agent as the result of a sore arm, Jorgens was signed on the recommendation of Billy Webb, farm club supervisor, who as manager at Galveston, Tex., started the athlete toward the big leagues in the fall of 1934.

Bats .390 with Clarksdale.

During the last summer Ad Schacht, Sox trainer, worked on Jorgens' arm and before going home for the winter announced the trouble had been cleared up.

Publication of the American league clubs' 1941 lists yesterday revealed another addition to the Sox roster. He's Thurman Tucker, an outfielder purchased from Oklahoma City.

The Sox reserve list also revealed that Manager Jim Dykes, who did not bat once last season, is still tabulated in the active ranks, being one of 37 players. Muddy Ruel, Mule Haas, and Monty Stratton have been retained as coaches.

Wrigley Offers to Resign.

Pressed for an explanation about the latest rumors that Gabby Hartnett would not manage the Cubs next season, President-Owner P. K. Wrigley yesterday acknowledged he was thinking of reorganizing the club's front office, starting with his own resignation as president.

The title has been offered to Charles [Boots] Weber, present business manager and vice president who recently renewed a request that his resignation be accepted so that he could return to California.

La Salle-Peru has won four games and tied one, while Freeport dropped four contests and played one tie.

Two other games will played in the Big Eight conference. East Rockford will meet West Aurora on the latter's field and East Aurora will play at West Rockford. . . . Two Public School league contests are scheduled, Marshall opposing Steinmetz in Spencer field and Tilden Tech facing Kelly in Shewbridge field. . . . BADGERS STOP OVER IN CITY EN ROUTE EAST

The University of Wisconsin football team stopped in Chicago yesterday en route to New York City to meet Columbia university tomorrow afternoon. Coach Harry Stuhldreher announced he would start Bob McKay, a sophomore, at center in place of the veteran Fred Ladewig.

Cliff Philip, veteran senior end, laid up with a charley horse, was left in Madison. Both full backs, George Paskvan and his understudy, Bob Ray, were limping but made the trip.

Wisconsin will stay in Asbury Park, N. J., tonight and will work out on the high school field there.

INDIANA TO RELY ON RUNNING GAME AGAINST STATE

Records Show That Ground Attack Is Powerful.

BY HOWARD BARRY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 7.—The Indiana university football team is going to change tactics and personnel in the hope that its luck also will shift in Saturday's game here with Michigan State. Repeatedly this season the Hoosiers' fate has turned from success to failure by narrow margins, so now Coach Bo McMillin has settled down to a job of trouble shooting.

He has indicated that the team will concentrate on running rather than passing. In accordance with this plan the back field is being altered. Hal Hursh, who is one of the best passers in the Westerr conference, is expected to spend considerable time on the bench because he lacks running ability.

Doloway, Brooks to Start.

Earl Doloway, a sophomore, and Toughie Brooks, a junior who played his first game against Ohio State, are expected to get the half back positions. Dale Swihart, another sophomore, will be at quarter back. Two veteran full backs, Joe Tofil and Ray Dumke, will alternate at that position.

The Hoosiers inspired considerable hope among their followers just before the opening of the season. Many expected them to have a great year, tho quite a few more cautious observers expressed the opinion that the fans were more optimistic than the material warranted. Indiana has now gone thru five games and has been able to win only one—that with Iowa. It has lost to Texas, Nebraska, Northwestern, and Ohio State.

Bo Has Quite a Problem.

The weakness seems to lie in the back field—and it is a complex weakness. The boys are specialists. One can pass but he can't run, another can run but he can't block and tackle. Most of them are not quite sure of themselves on pass defense. In nearly every game the turning point has come on one play where some one of the backs either did something wrong or else was the victim of hard luck—and every time a different player was involved. So it's obvious that Coach McMillin has a tough problem in attempting to get a well balanced team on the field.

PACKERS TO PUT ALL THEIR CHIPS ON REAL OFFENSE

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

Back in the days when there was a cheer on the Midway once in awhile, and something to cheer about, A. A. Stagg authored an axiom that has become part of modern football. He said the best defense is a good offense.

After weeks of attempting to defend their world championship by various other means, the Green Bay Packers have gone back to Stagg's strategy this week in preparation for their engagement with the Cardinals in Comiskey park Sunday. Defense has been ignored. All stress is being placed on scoring.

Strategy in All-Star Game.

"That was our strategy in the Chicago All-Star game," Coach Curley Lambeau said yesterday. "It was our strategy in the exhibition game with Washington. We are back to it now and we will stand or fall on it for the remainder of the season. We are willing to let the other fellow get as many touchdowns as he has time for, but we intend to be too busy getting them ourselves for him to outscore us."

The Packers' three weeks' preparation for the All-Star game was devoted almost entirely to offense. The soundness of such strategy was demonstrated when the Packers came from behind with a burst of touchdown fireworks to gallop off with the game, 45 to 28. Washington, with its great scoring machine, follows the same plan, but when it ran up against the Packers, using the same tactics, it went down in defeat, 28 to 21.

Plenty of Offense Sunday.

After seeing the Packers miss half a dozen chances to tie the Bear game last week, Lambeau decided it was time to make a change. The change was a return to offensive football. He outlined his plan over long distance telephone yesterday, concluding the conversation with a promise that there would be plenty of offensive football in Comiskey park Sunday.

Meanwhile Chicago's two baseball parks are busy places every morning with the Bears stepping up the tempo in Wrigley field in preparation for their invasion of Detroit Sunday and the Cardinals polishing their attack for the Green Bay game. The Bears will wind up their work tomorrow morning, then board an afternoon train for Detroit. Final preparations in the Cardinal camp also will be made tomorrow.

EXTRA DIVIDEND OF $1 IS VOTED BY PEOPLES GAS

Added Payment for Air Brake Stock.

Directors of the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company late yesterday voted an extra dividend of $1 a share on the capital stock in addition to the usual quarterly payment of 50 cents. These, together with the three earlier declarations of 50 cents, will bring total distribution for the year to $3.

The extra is payable on Dec. 16 to holders of record Nov. 20 and the usual dividend is scheduled for payment on Jan. 15 to stockholders of record on Dec. 21. There are 656,119 shares outstanding.

Year-end dividends totaling more than 2½ million dollars were authorized by directors of two other companies.

Brake Firm to Pay 75 Cents.

A year-end disbursement of 75 cents a share was announced by the Westinghouse Air Brake company, Wilmerding, Pa., manufacturer of railroad air brake and control equipment. The company, which has 3,172,110 shares outstanding, had also declared four dividends of 25 cents each this year, compared with 62½ cents for the whole of 1939.

The Bigelow-Sanford Carpet Company, Inc., New York, voted a year-end dividend of $1 on the 313,609 shares of common stock. The company paid $1 each on March 1 and Sept. 3 this year. It made only a single $1 distribution last year.

Increased payments were ordered by Pittsburgh Plate Glass, Columbia Broadcasting system and Harbison-Walker Refractories.

The Acme Steel company, Chicago, declared the regular quarterly dividend of 75 cents a share on the common stock.

The regular quarterly dividend of 40 cents of the Walgreen company, payable Dec. 20 to holders of record Nov. 20, will bring the payments thus far this year to $1.60 and not $1.20 as incorrectly stated in Wednesday's paper. The total last year was $1.55.

Mack Trucks' Earnings Are 4 Times 1939

Mack Trucks, Inc., manufacturer of heavy duty motor trucks, had net incomes for the September quarter and the first nine months of this year more than four times those of comparable periods of 1939. The results were announced yesterday by E. C. Fink, chairman and president.

In the September quarter the company had a net income of $353,559 equal to 59 cents a share, after federal income taxes but before excess profits taxes. This compared with $82,434, or 14 cents a share, for the corresponding quarter a year ago.

Net profit for nine months ended Sept. 30, after normal taxes but before excess profits taxes, totaled $1,167,855, or $1.95 a share, against $245,191, or 41 cents a share, for the comparable period in 1939.

Kelsey-Hayes Earns Million.

During the eight months ended Aug. 31 net profits of the Kelsey-Hayes Wheel company, with offices in Detroit, Mich., rose to $1,029,909 from an indicated net income of $314,333 in the corresponding period last year. The company manufactures mostly automobile wheels.

George W. Kennedy, president, said that operations of the company were at a high level, with larger earnings in prospect for the coming year because of substantial armament business. He said that orders had been accepted from the United States government for machining of shells and from the British government for various other war materials.

For nine months ended Sept. 28, the Bigelow-Sanford Carpet company had a net profit of $1,298,779, equal to $3.76 a share. No comparable figures were available.

Contracts were 44 per cent above the previous high of $97,958,000 a week reported in March, 1930. Average weekly awards were 53 per cent larger than for September and 130 per cent ahead of October, 1939.

Public construction awards set a new record and private contracts were the largest for any month since May, 1930.

It was the tenth consecutive week in which construction volume had exceeded the corresponding week of 1939.

GRAIN FUTURES ADVANCE 1 TO 4 CENTS A BUSHEL

Grain prices jumped as much as 4 cents a bushel yesterday after Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau disclosed that congress would be asked to boost the debt limit again. The May deliveries of wheat and oats and all soy bean futures advanced to new seasonal highs. Wheat sold 3⅝ to 4 cents a bushel higher at one time and corn was up 2⅜ to 3⅛ cents.

Wheat futures on the Chicago Board of Trade closed 3¼ to 3½ cents higher; corn, 2⅛ to 2⅜ cents higher; oats, ⅝ to ¾ cents higher; rye, 1¼ to 2½ cents higher, and soy beans, 2¼ to 2⅜ cents a bushel higher.

Trading in all grains was the most active of recent weeks. Brokers said much of the buying resulted from inflationary implications in Morgenthau's statement.

Declaring that Chicago has not been getting its fair share of defense orders, Charles S. Dewey, Republican congressman elect from the 9th district of Illinois, left for Washington yesterday to confer with war and navy department officials on the question of getting more contracts.

Charles S. Dewey.

Altho Chicago is the country's second largest industrial area, it has received less than $200,000,000 in contracts, he said.

"There are 2,500 or more manufacturers in Chicago who could be producing goods under the defense orders obtained by them, the more orders obtained by them ,the more jobs there will be for workers in this section.

Considers It Civic Duty.

"Altho I will not take my seat in congress until January, I look upon the question of jobs for Chicago's unemployed as a civic duty. Washington officials will probably get so they dread to see me coming but I intend to keep up the battle until we get our share of the contracts."

Meantime, the war department let $5,072,637 in contracts yesterday, including three to Chicago companies. The Clarin Manufacturing company got an order for 200,000 folding metal chairs costing $406,000, and Powers & Co. was given an order for 160,000 canvas field bags costing $364,000. The Federal Electric Co., Inc., Chicago, got a $78,159 contract for siren type alarms.

The war department in addition let a $2,078,815 contract for the construction of temporary buildings at Fort Custer, Mich.

Let Hinsdale P. O. Contract.

The Public Buildings administration let a number of contracts, including one for $74,832 to the L. and W. Construction company, Chicago, for a post office at Hinsdale.

Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc. announced that it has obtained financing thru seven banks for the purchase of fifteen new 24-passenger Douglas DC-3 transports.

RESERVE BOARD INDEX OF PRODUCTION RISES TO NEW RECORD AT 127

Washington, D. C., Nov. 7 (AP).—Industrial production reached a new peak in October, the federal reserve board reported today, crediting the actual and prospective activity resulting from defense orders. The board estimated the October production level at 127 per cent of the 1935-1939 average, or one point above the December, 1939, high.

Commenting that defense contracts awarded since spring had reached nearly $8,000,000,000 with an additional $2,000,000,000 committed for naval equipment, the board declared:

"Expenditures under many of these contracts will be spread over several years, but there will be a considerable increase during the next few months. Actual outlays by the treasury for all national defense purposes, including current operations of the army and navy, have increased from an average of $150,000,000 a month last spring to over $280,000,000 in October."

It said that while the prices of basic industrial materials advanced during the first three weeks of October, food prices during September and October had shown little increase.

FILE McKESSON DRUG PLAN TO PAY ALL DEBTS

New York, Nov. 7 (AP).—A proposed plan of reorganization for McKesson and Robbins, Inc., drug and liquor company, was filed in federal court today. It provided for the company's recapitalization and full payment, with accrued interest, of the total debt, estimated at $29,911,756.

William J. Wardall, trustee, said that if new senior securities were underwritten or sold, full payment would be made in cash. Otherwise, the basis of payment would be 40 per cent or more in cash, 40 per cent in new 3½ per cent debentures, and the balance in new 5 per cent cumulative preferred stock.

Federal Judge Alfred C. Coxe called a hearing for Dec. 20.

RAIL EQUIPMENT ISSUE SOLD AT NEW LOW YIELD

New York, Nov. 7 [Special].—Record low cost financing for railroad equipment was established today when Mellon Securities corporation and associates won the award of $1,550,000 Wheeling and Lake Erie Railway equipment trust certificates on a cost basis equivalent to interest at 1.23 per cent. The successful bid was 98.87 for 1 per cent certificates, maturing serially in 1 to 10 years.

The certificates immediately were reoffered at prices to yield from 0.20 to 1.55 per cent, according to maturity. The bankers announced later that the issue had been sold. The sale attracted nine bids.

U. S. BONDS HIT 1940 PEAKS IN ACTIVE BUYING

New York, Nov. 7 (AP).—The bond market joined other rising securities and commodities markets today, corporate issues gaining 1 to 2 or more points and United States government obligations adding major fractions to more than one.

It was the most active session since last May with sales at $12,245,925, face value, compared with $5,393,200 on Wednesday.

The utility, industrial and low-yield groups used in the Associated Press averages attained new highs for 1940.

The greatest activity developed in the United States government group. Within a few minutes after news tickers carried the Washington announcement of Secretary Morgenthau that steps would be taken to increase the statutory debt limit up to 60 or 65 billion dollars and remove tax exempt clauses from future issues, buyers went into action.

Fiscal Experts Urge Steps to Curb Inflation

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

With yesterday's wide upswing in prices, renewed interest developed in methods that the government has been urged to adopt to stop the inflation threat.

Most authorities agree that, if properly handled, the defense program, or a war, can be financed without serious inflation. Not all of them believe that such a program will be followed.

Foremost among those who have urged upon the administration the need for adequate safeguards against inflation are Dr. Harold G. Moulton, president of the Brookings Institution, and Dr. W. Randolph Burgess, vice chairman of the National City Bank of New York.

Urges Budget Control.

Burgess recommends that the government cut down its nondefense expenditures and bring the federal budget under better control as an essential preliminary to a sound financial program. At the same time, he warns that it would be dangerous now for states and other political subdivisions of the federal government to launch costly long term undertakings.

Dr. H. G. Moulton (left) and Dr. W. Randolph Burgess favor action to minimize inflation threat.

Existing inflationary powers in the hands of the President should be canceled, in the opinion of Burgess, who is a frequent consultant of the treasury on fiscal matters. He lists specifically the President's powers to issue 3 billion dollars of greenbacks, to devalue the dollar still further and purchase additional large amounts of silver. Existence of these powers, he asserts, are dangerous and disturbing.

Terms Danger Latent.

The danger of inflation is latent, not immediate, he holds, and steps should be taken now to minimize its threat.

"If price inflation occurs," Dr. Moulton says, "it will be because of a lack of understanding of the sources of price disturbance or the adoption of unwise administrative procedures rather than because of any inherent economic reason."

For effective wartime price control, Dr. Moulton lists as essential the following steps:

1. Withold from the army and navy the unlimited buying authority that would permit them to compete for scarce supplies by price bidding.

2. Avoid the world war principle of using price as an inducement to bring about additional production. Procure such additional output by direct method, thru subsidy or otherwise, instead of allowing a distortion of the price structure to obtain a minor part of the total supply required.

Urges Stable Wages.

3. Avoid increases in wage rates except where needed to maintain health and efficiency. [Total wages will rise, he explains, as the slack in the economic system is taken up even tho wage rates remain stationary].

4. Finance emergency expenditures as far as possible without resort to credit expansion—from taxes and loans paid for out of current income.

In proposing a big increase in the national debt limit yesterday, Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. made no mention of the possibility of reducing expenditures for purposes other than defense. He stated he did not fear inflation, but added that the price movement would "have to be watched every single minute."

SHAREHOLDERS' EQUITY IS LOST IN RAIL REVISION

Rock Island Capital Cut by I. C. C.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 7 (AP).—The Interstate Commerce commission issued a plan of reorganization today for the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railway which calls for sharp reductions in capitalization and fixed interest charges and makes no provision for participation of present stockholders in the reorganized company.

The plan calls for capitalization of $351,180,912, compared with $553,313,003 at present. It would reduce annual fixed charges from $13,726,179 to $2,415,519. The commission found the equities of the owners of the preferred and common stocks of no value, and made no provision for stockholders in the plan.

Cut Fixed Interest Debt.

Total fixed interest debt of the reorganized company would be $64,943,184. Of this $28,002,124 would be in undistributed equipment trust obligations and $36,941,060 in first mortgage 4 per cent bonds.

EXCESS RESERVE FUNDS OF BANKS DECLINE IN WEEK

Money in Circulation Up 120 Million Dollars.

Excess reserves in federal reserve member banks declined 200 million dollars during the week ended Nov. 6 to a total of 6 billion 730 million, the federal reserve board reported yesterday. This was the second consecutive week that excess reserves—idle money—declined.

The decline was attributed largely to an increase of 120 millions in money in circulation and an increase of 89 millions in treasury deposits with federal reserve banks.

PLEDGES BANKS' AID IN SOLVING U. S. PROBLEMS

Houston Urges United Public Co-operation.

P. D. Houston.

P. D. Houston, president of the American Bankers association and president of the American National bank at Nashville, Tenn., yesterday pledged the administration at Washington, D.C., the banks' support in trying to meet America's problems. He spoke at the 11th annual Mid-Continent Trust conference of the American Bankers association in the Stevens hotel.

"The American people have made a momentous decision in the characteristic way," Houston said. "More people took part in this election than in any other in our history. The issues were thoroly discussed and the result was by no means one sided. The election showed a healthy division of opinion. It demonstrated a genuine opposition essential to the operation of a democracy.

Many "Problems Ahead."

"This is a nation of majority rule. As a people I am sure we will accept the decision of Tuesday.

"There are plenty of problems ahead which call for united thought and action. As president of the American Bankers association I pledge the support of the banking fraternity to the government in meeting these problems."

More than 600 members of the association attended the conference, which will close today. Most of the subjects discussed were technical.

Urges Minimum Control.

Dr. Franklyn B. Snyder, president of Northwestern university, speaking at the annual banquet, said that both banks and universities must be left free if they are to make their largest contributions to public welfare.

"Unless the money in the bank and the books in the library are used, neither the bank nor the university will perform its full duty to the public," he said.

Lift Export Subsidy Rate on Flour for Hemisphere

Washington, D. C., Nov. 7 (AP).—The department of agriculture today increased the subsidy rate of the export of flour from the United States to other western hemisphere countries from 85 cents to $1.05 a barrel. The subsidy rate on flour exports from Pacific coast ports to the Philippine Islands was continued at 70 cents a barrel.

MONEY, GOLD, AND SILVER

The free British pound rose ¼ cent yesterday at $4.04½, and the Hongkong dollar was up .09 cent. Most of the other major foreign currencies remained unchanged.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7 (AP).—Bar silver, 34¾c, unchanged.

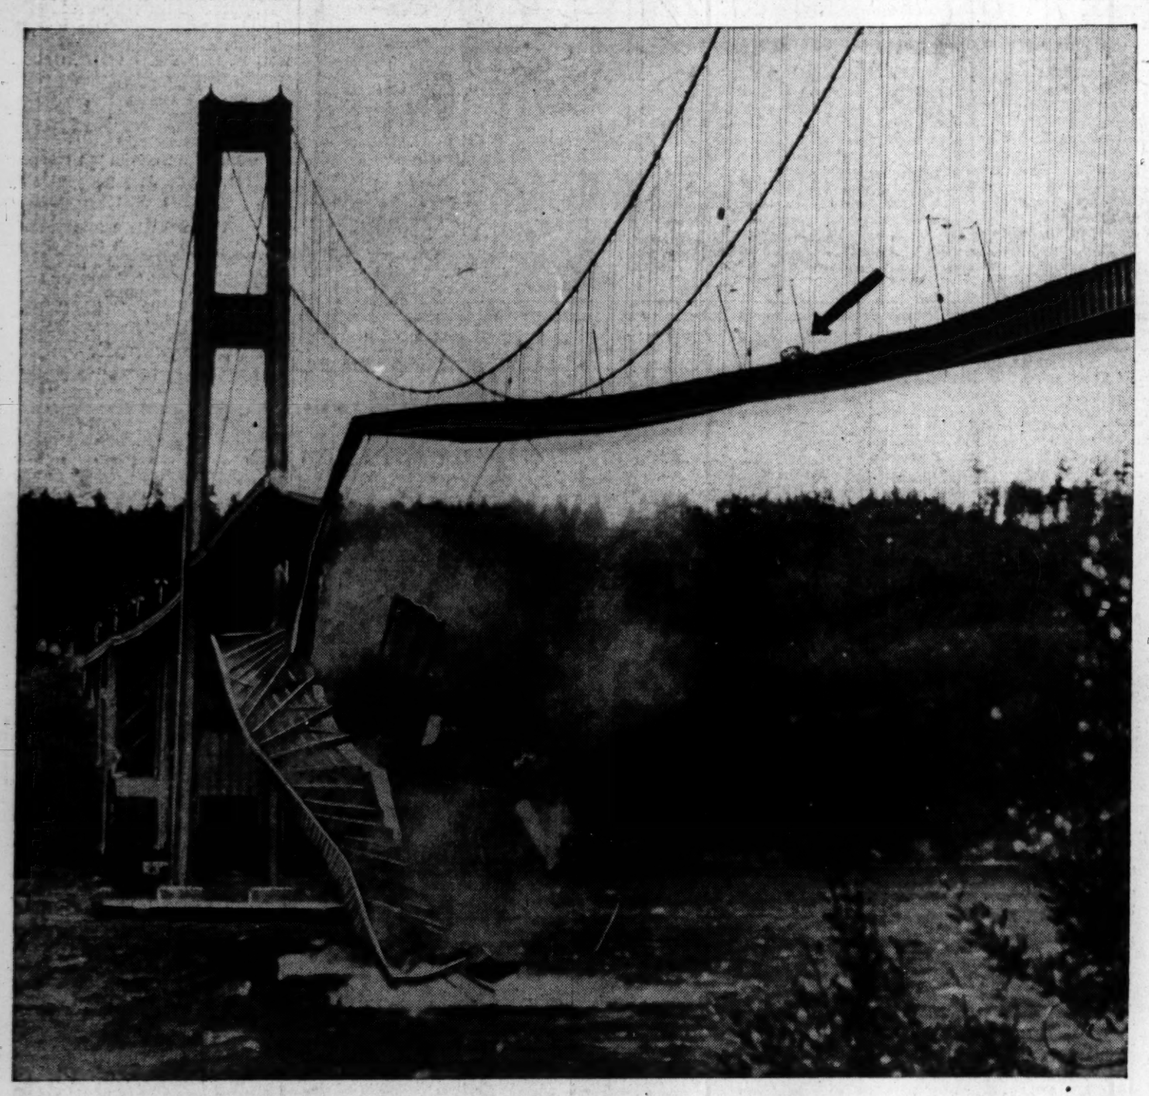
Bridge Costing $6,400,000 Collapses in High Wind—World's Third Biggest Span Falls Into Sea



A section of the $6,400,000 Tacoma, Wash., Narrows suspension bridge as it collapsed and plunged 190 feet into Puget sound yesterday. The arrow points to car abandoned by Leonard Coatsworth, newspaper man, before he crawled to safety.

General view of the Tacoma bridge after collapse. The entire center section gave way, leaving supporting towers standing, but tilted toward shores. Inset lower left shows the bridge as it appeared before misfortune overtook it.
